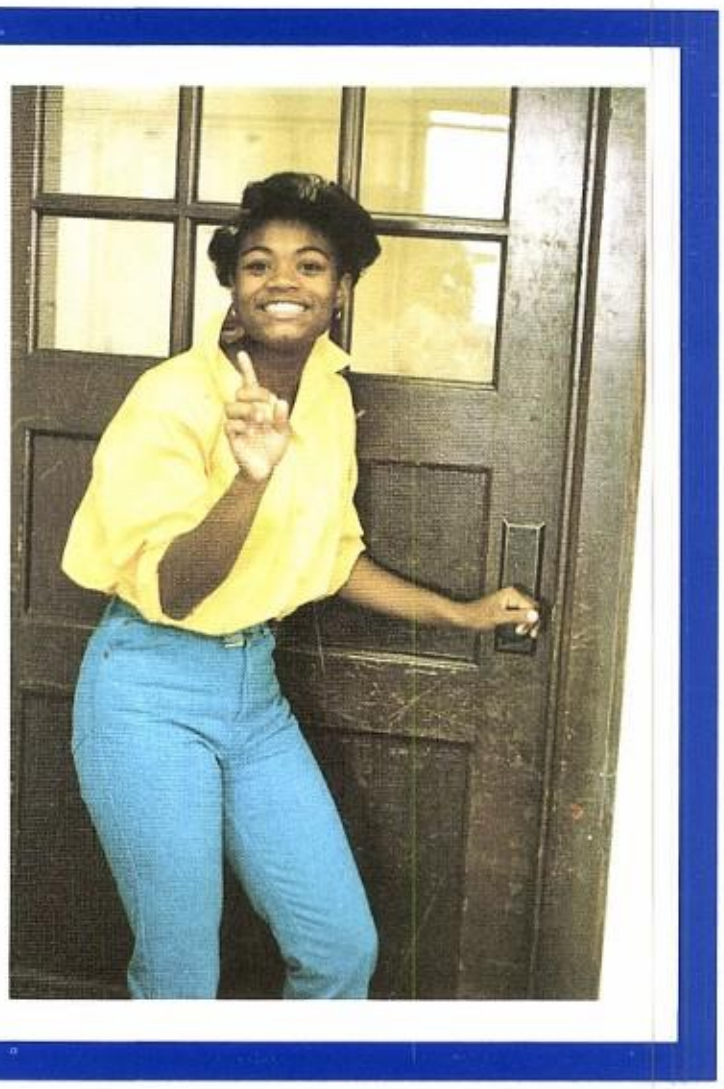
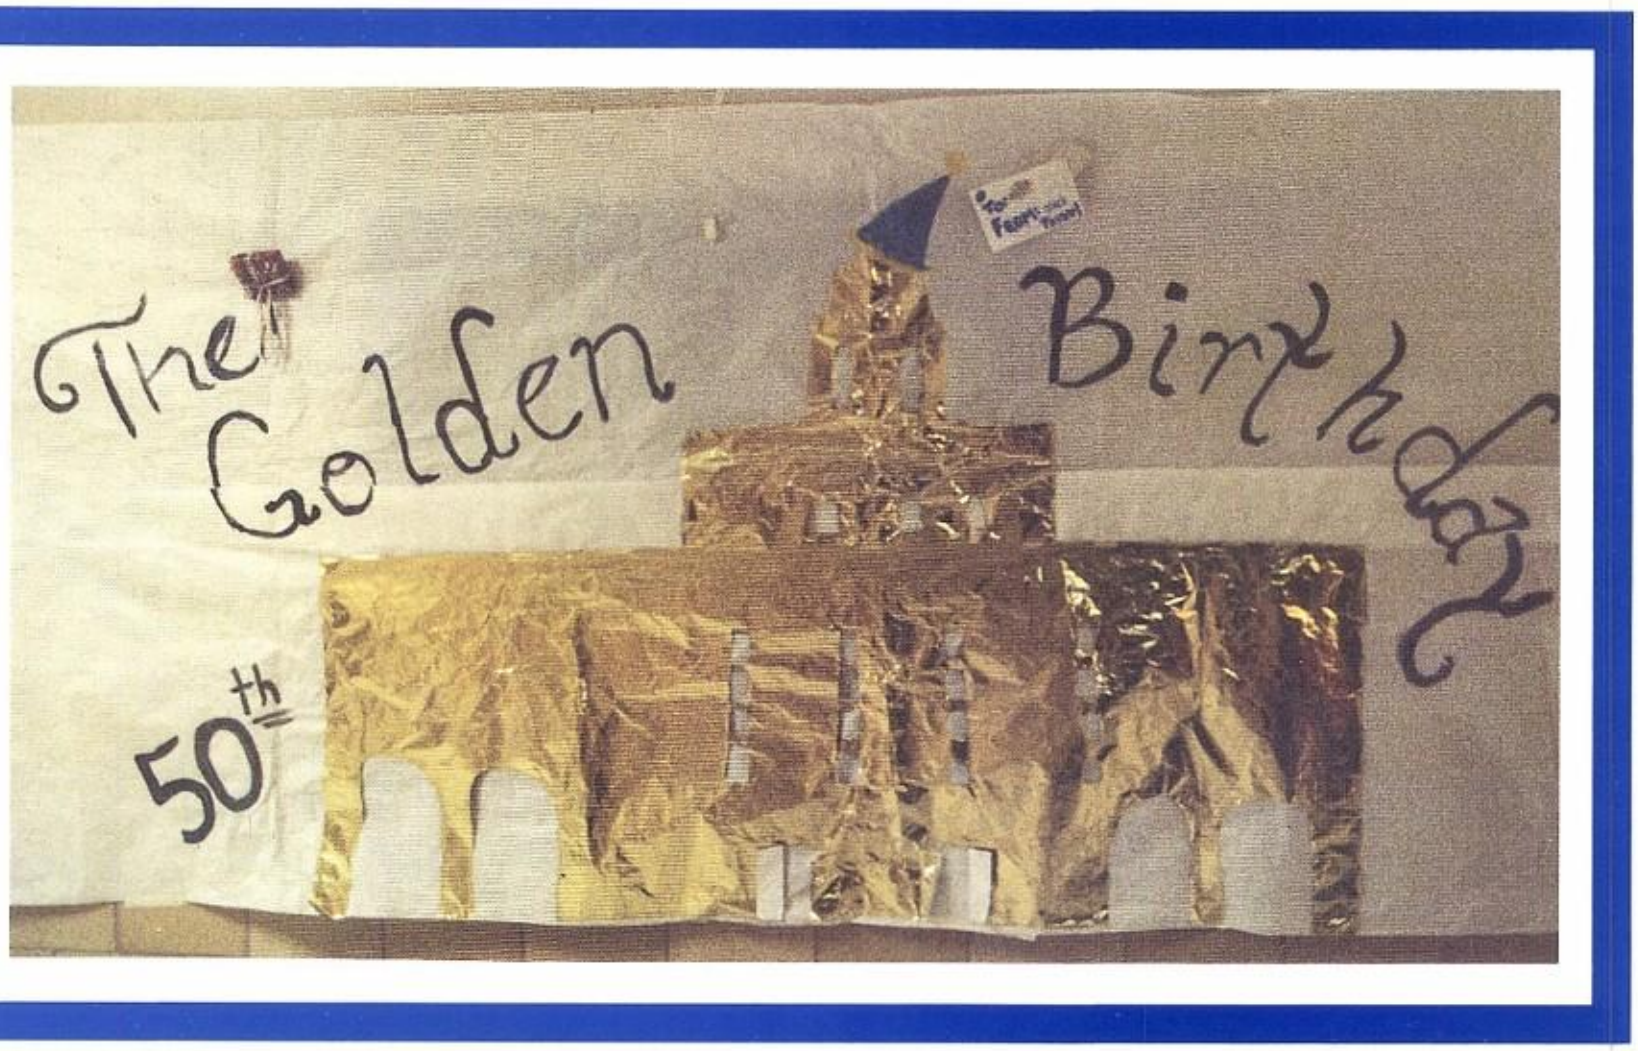
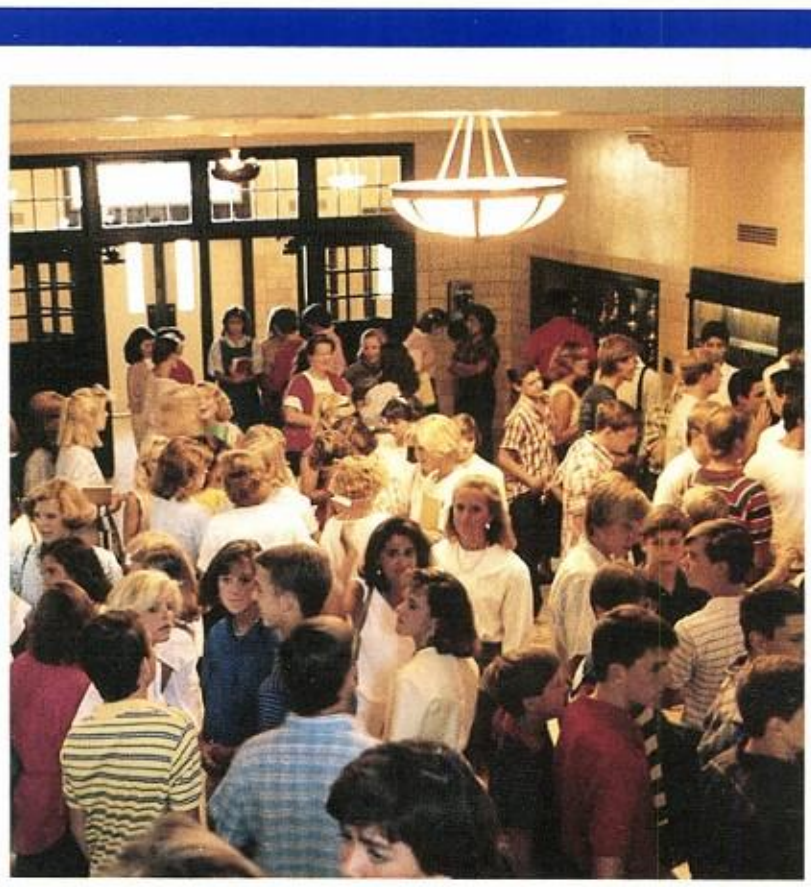
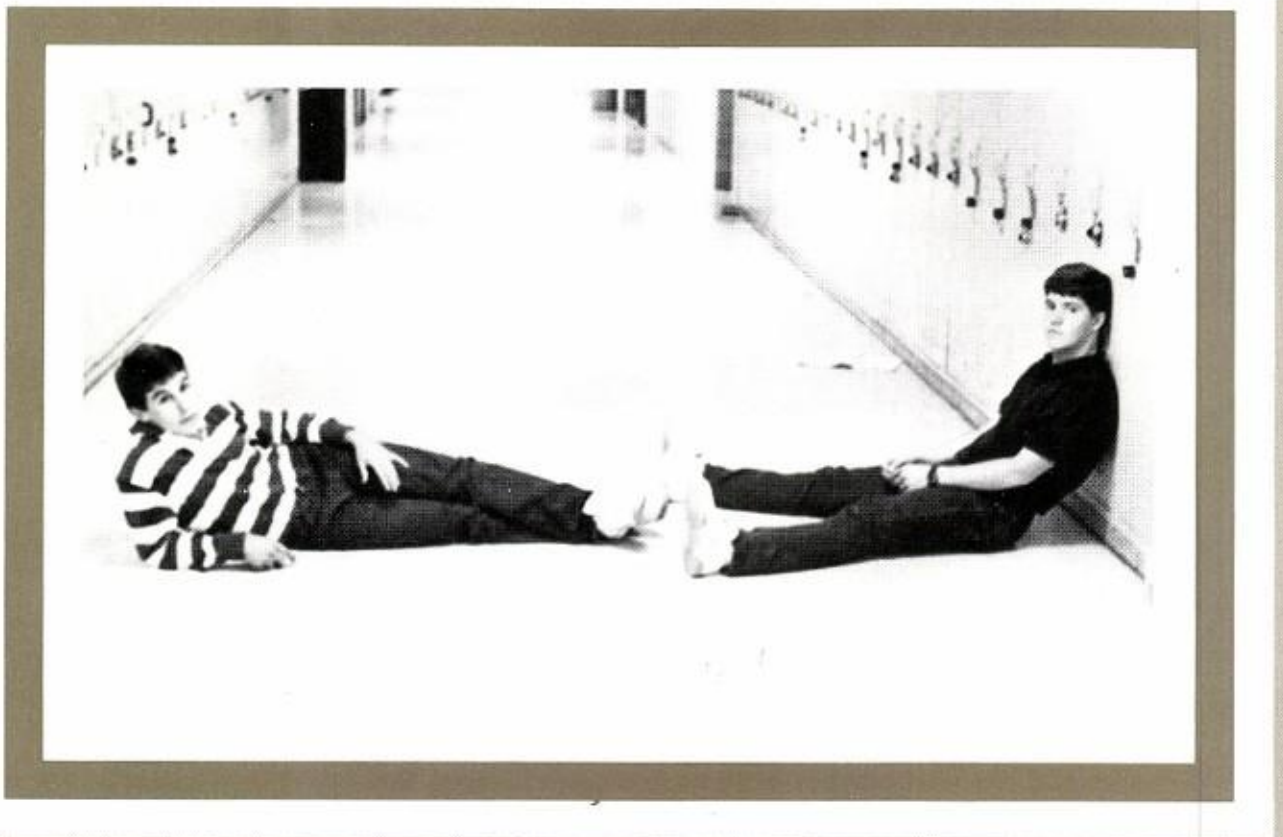
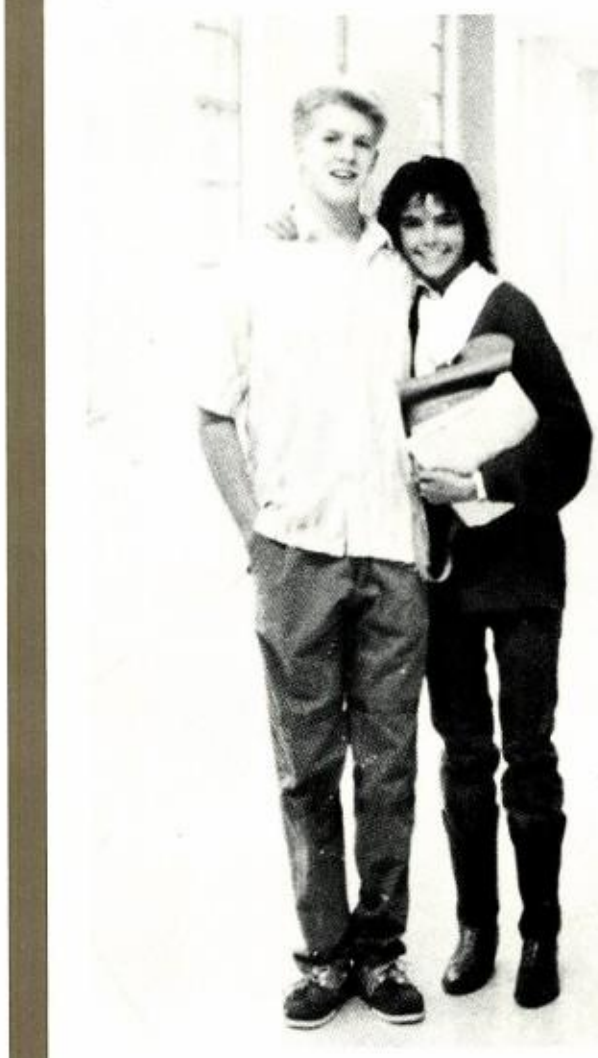
As Texas celebrates its sesquicentennial, growth is evident not only in the physical appearance, but also in the changing attitudes of the people.



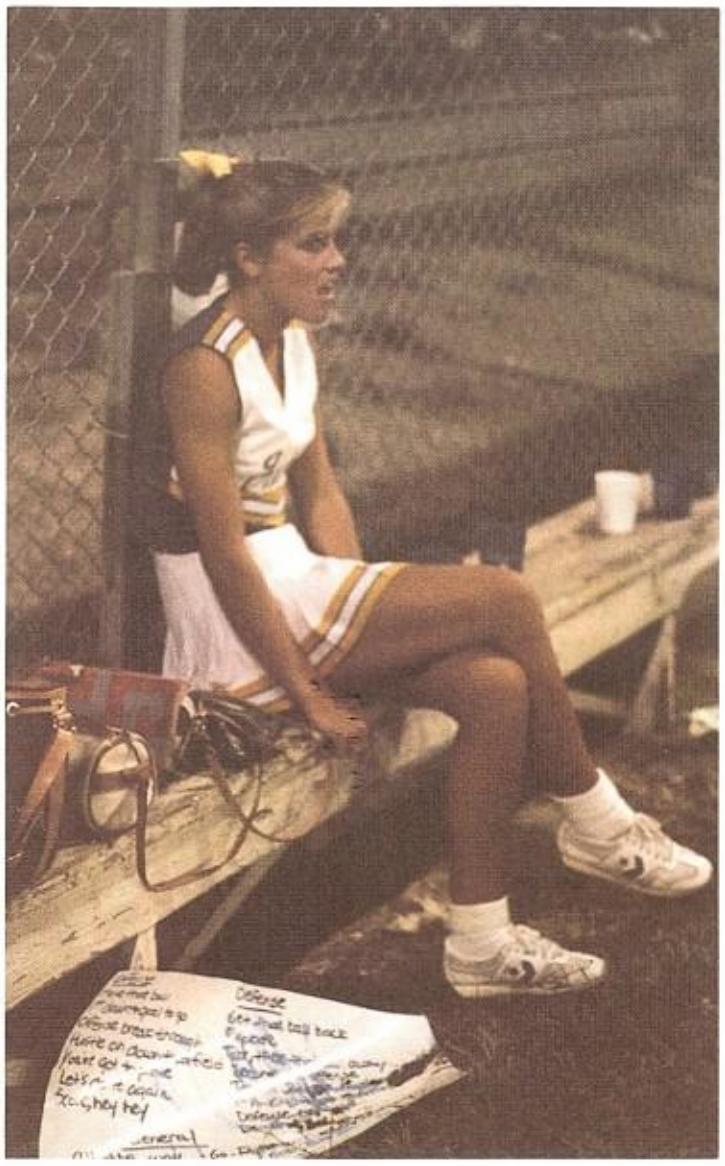


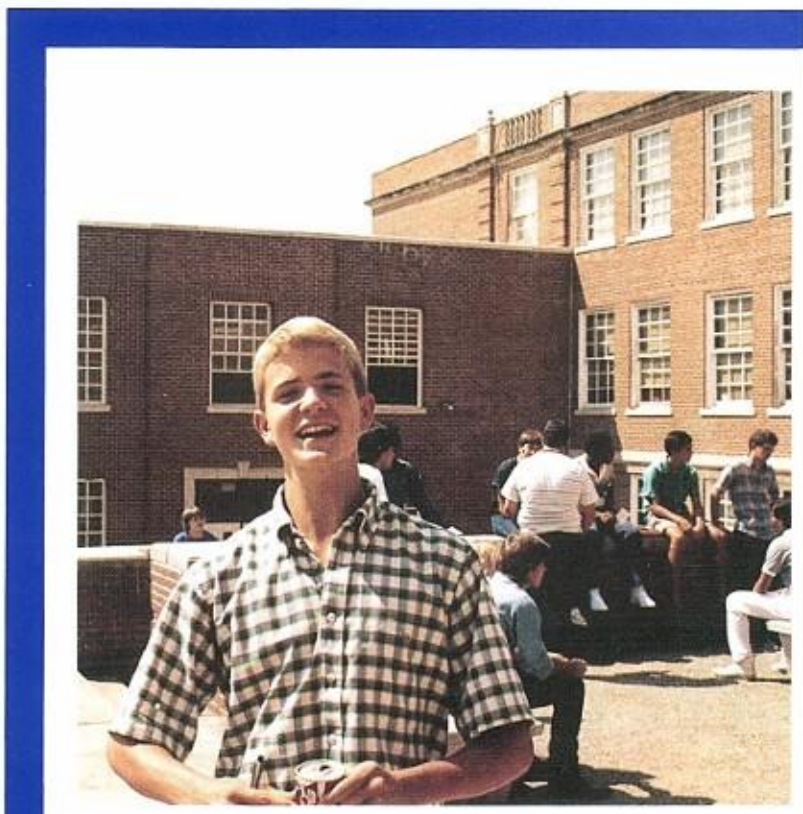


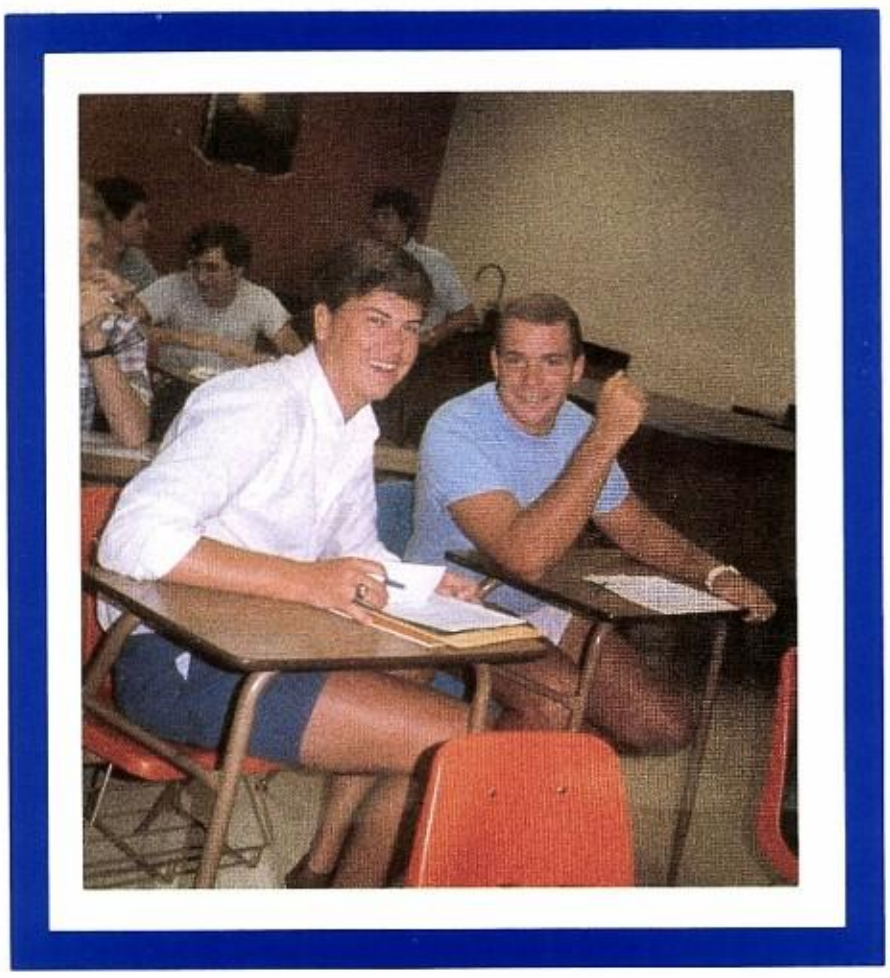




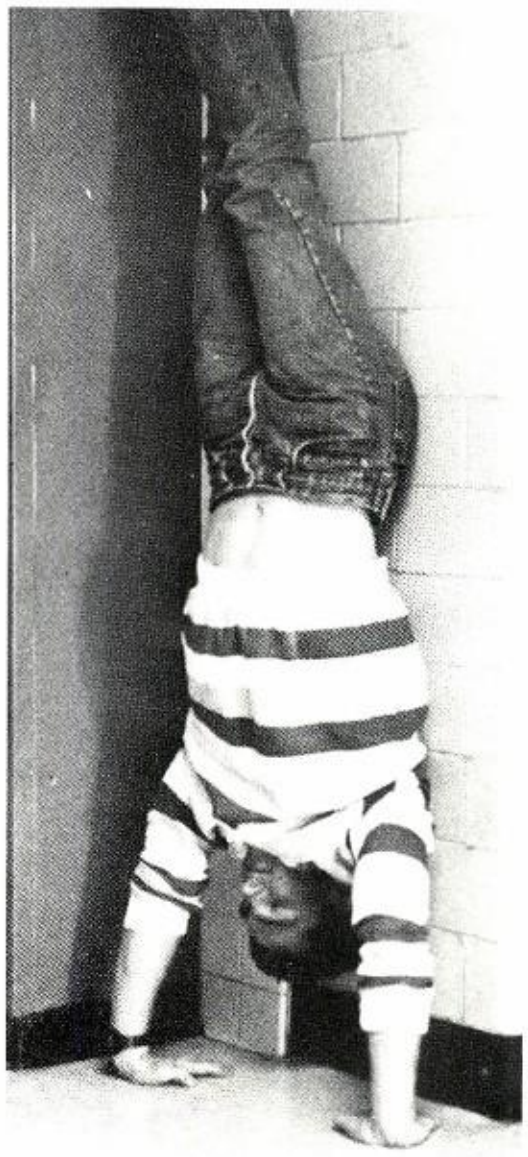
This year another anniversary is being celebrated; the golden anniversary of Arlington Heights in this location. This building represents 50 years of growth and development.

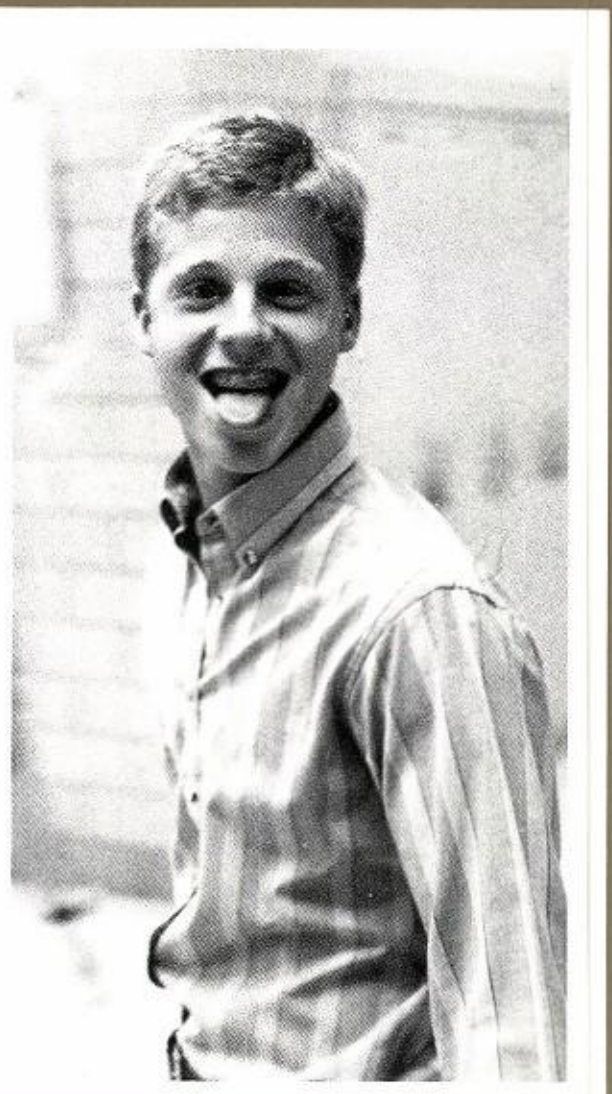






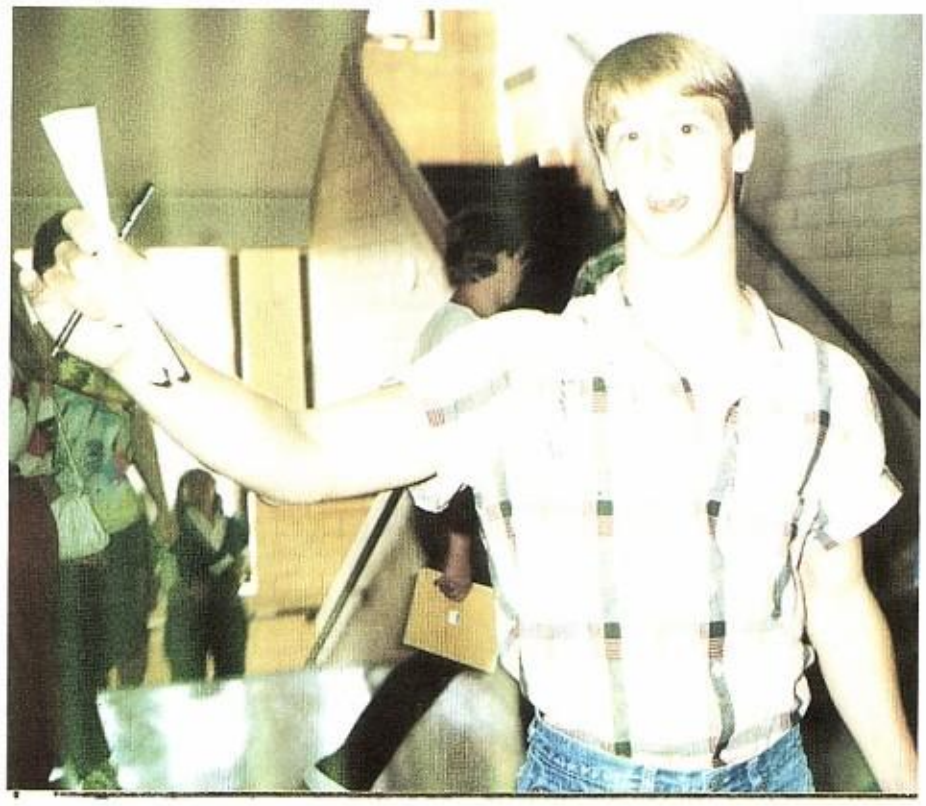
Just as cities and institutions expand, people, too, must grow. They must adapt to a constantly changing world.

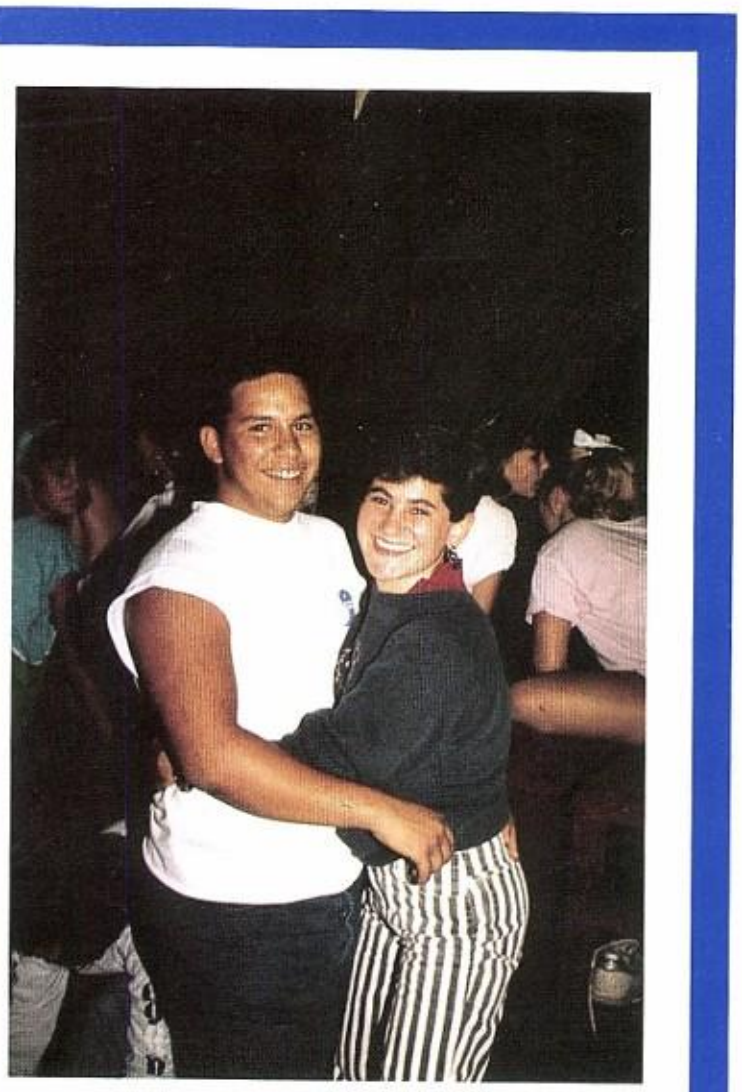


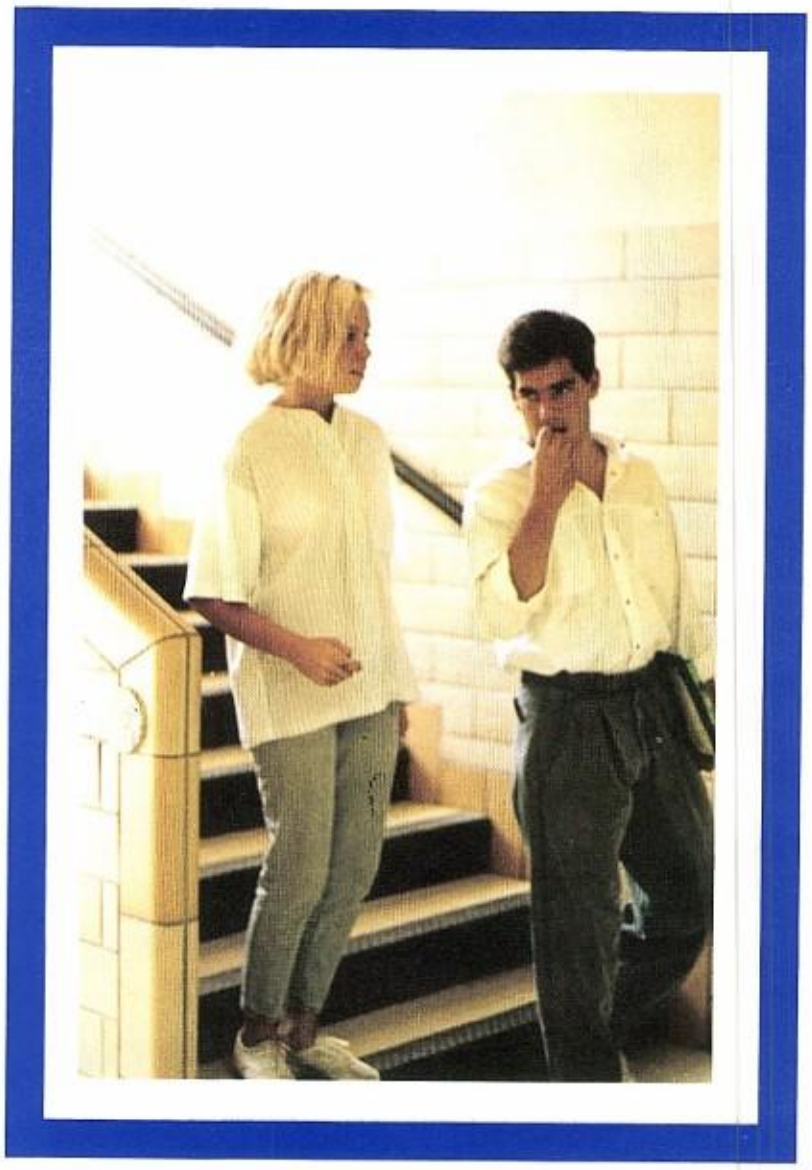


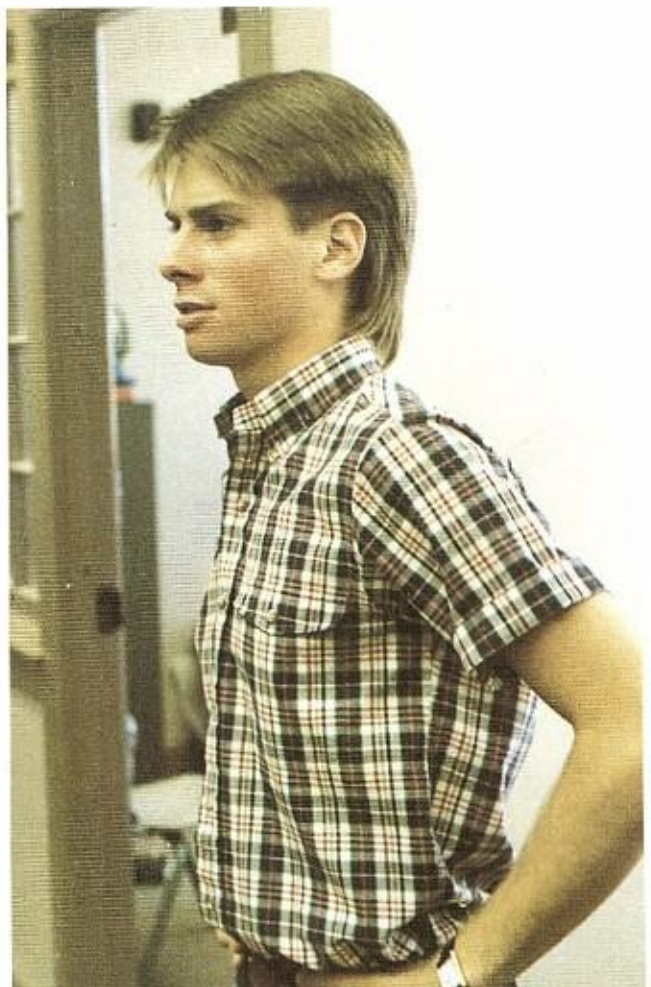
As we mature from child to adult, we face more difficulties and new responsibilities. We must be flexible enough to withstand these changes.

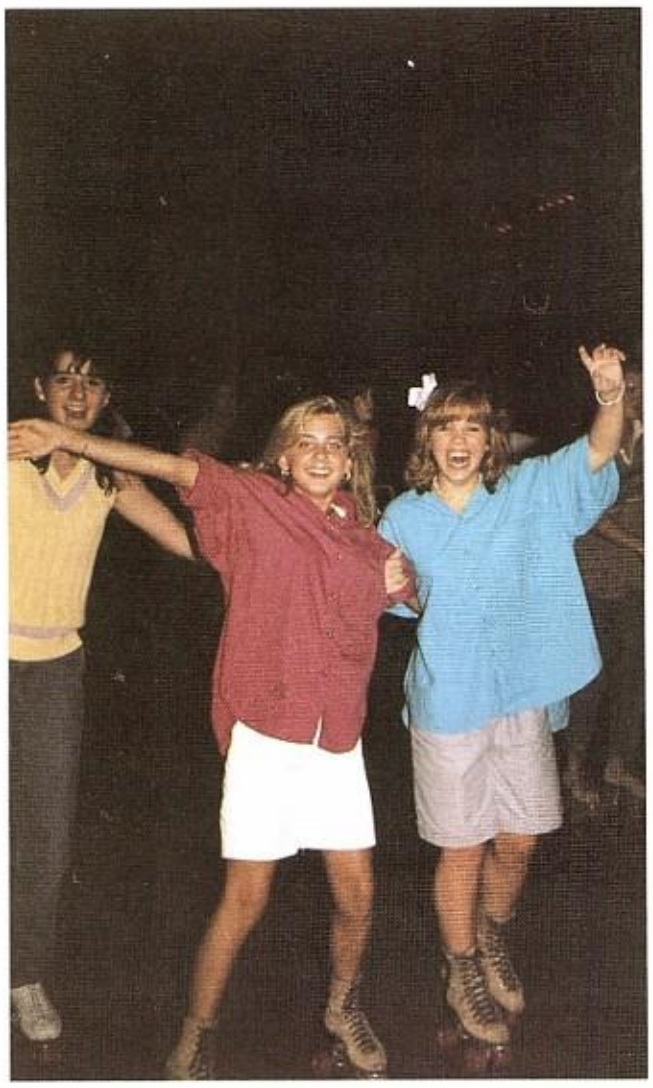
During these important years of high school, we must rely on other people for help and guidance. The teachers and friends we know now will influence the rest of our lives.

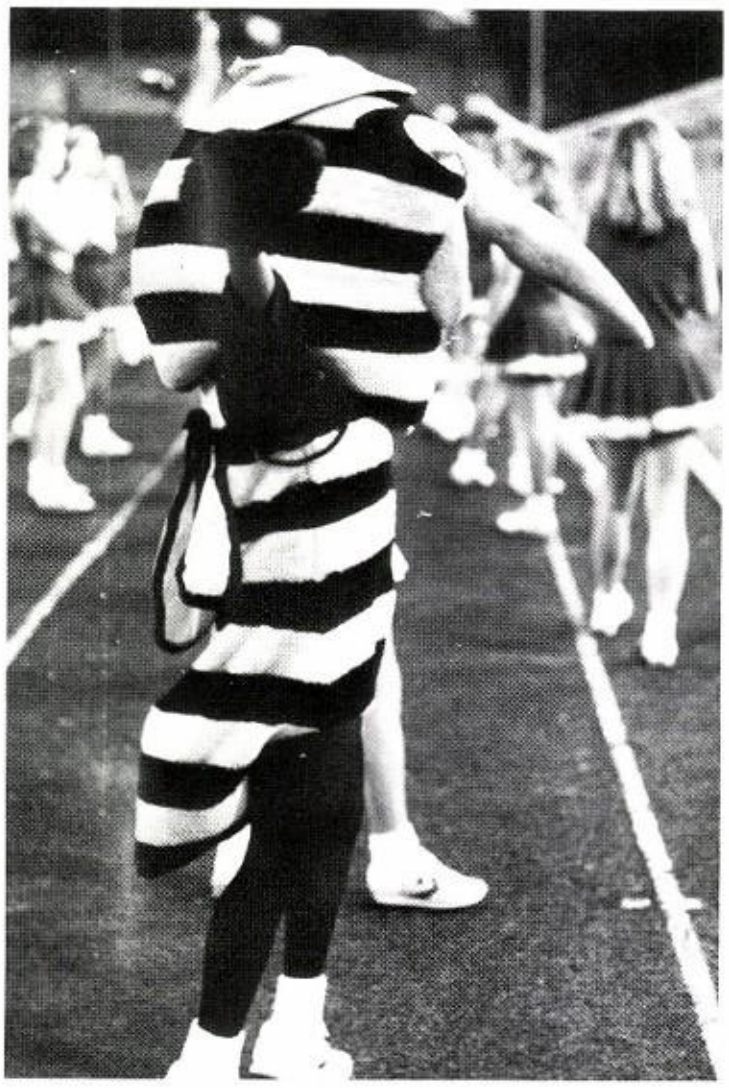




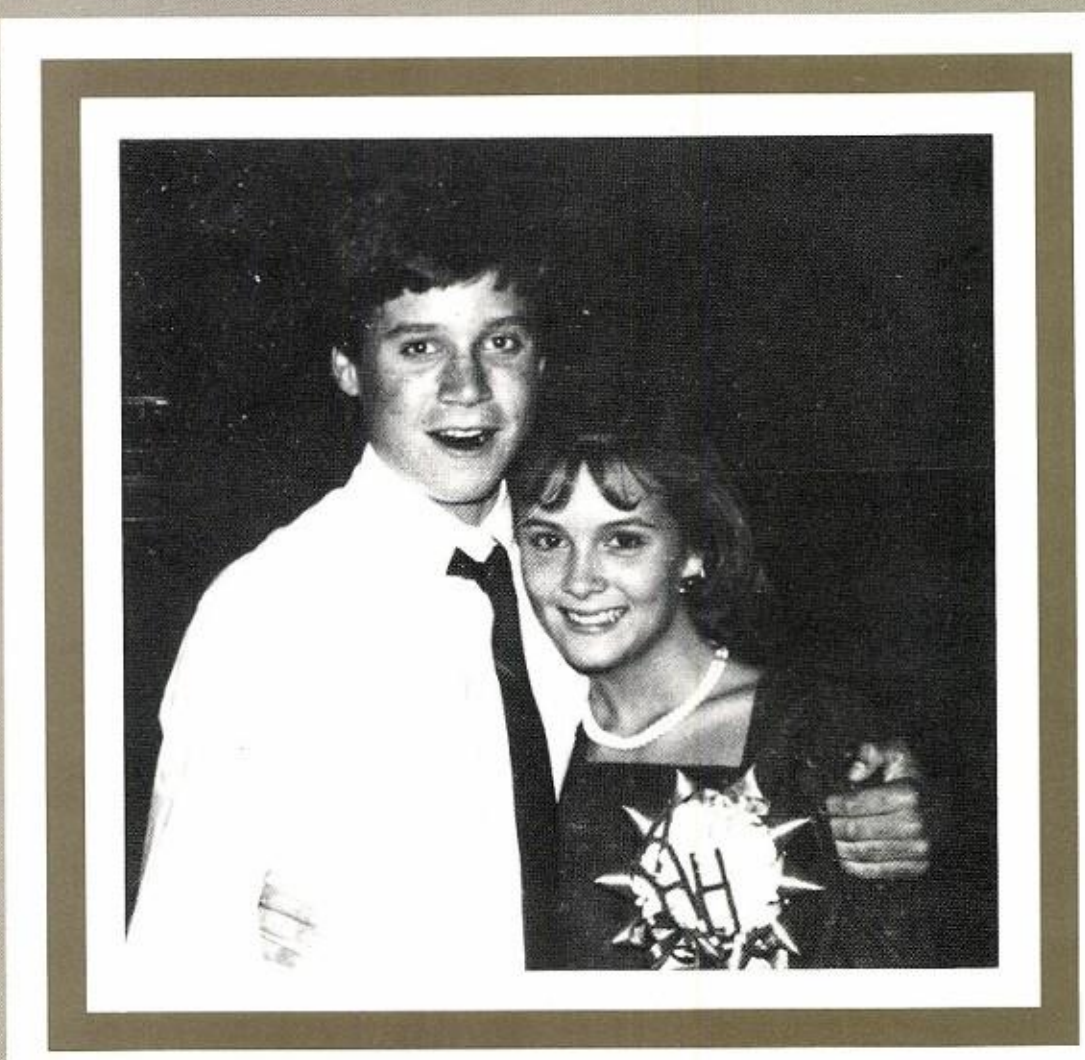


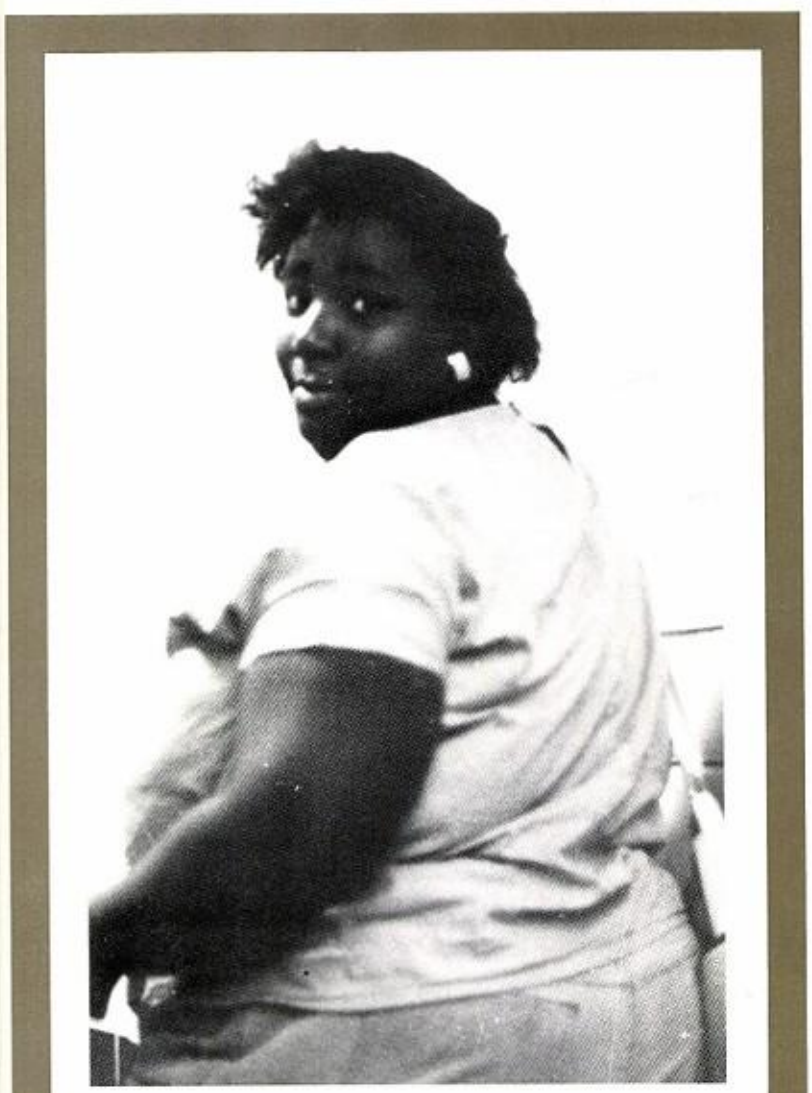






TO





When we leave Arlington Heights we will be adults. However, we must continue to grow and change throughout our lifetime.

To be a teacher requires patience, understanding, and dedication. The time and effort involved are sacrifices few people are willing to make. It takes a special kind of person to be able to teach effectively. However, there is no perfect method of teaching. Each teacher has to develop an individual style and make it work.

The best teachers are those who know what students are capable of doing and what is too difficult for them. These select few know how to present problems as challenges rather than work.

Here at Arlington Heights we are lucky enough to have one of the "best"; a teacher who has devoted her knowledge and experience to provide Heights with an invaluable service. Hard work and dedication are not always fully appreciated, so we would like to take this opportunity to recognize the talent and ability of this deserving teacher:

School Board Closes Another Successful Year

The Fort Worth School Board faced a very challenging year. Many changes were brought in with House Bill 72, but the board somehow managed to keep the district running smoothly. This was actually the second year under the new rules, but they were fully implemented this year. "Education is a big business in Fort Worth," stated School Board member Loftin Witcher. He added, "We are blessed to have many excellent teachers, administrators, and support personnel in this district." Truly the whole system held up very well under all the transformation. The outstanding board led the teachers, administrators, and personnel to a very accomplished year. Teamwork brought success.

It's a Bummer for Guys When . . .

You're 19 and still get carded at R movies

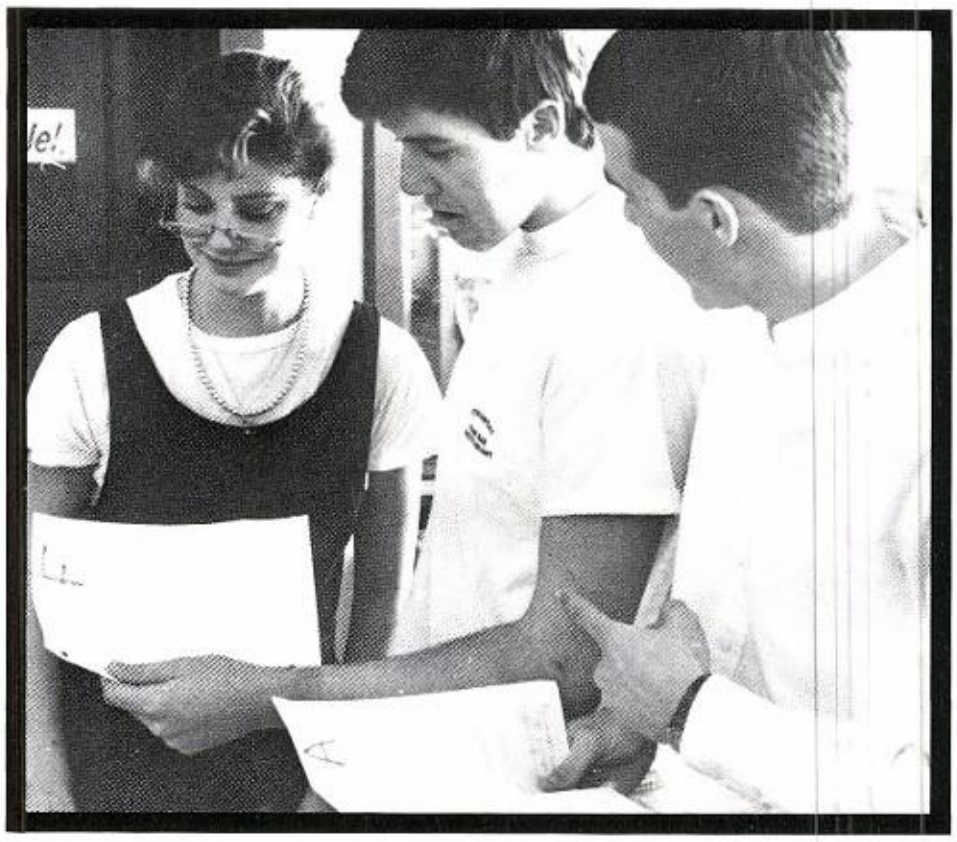
You get out of the shower and discover you're out of mousse

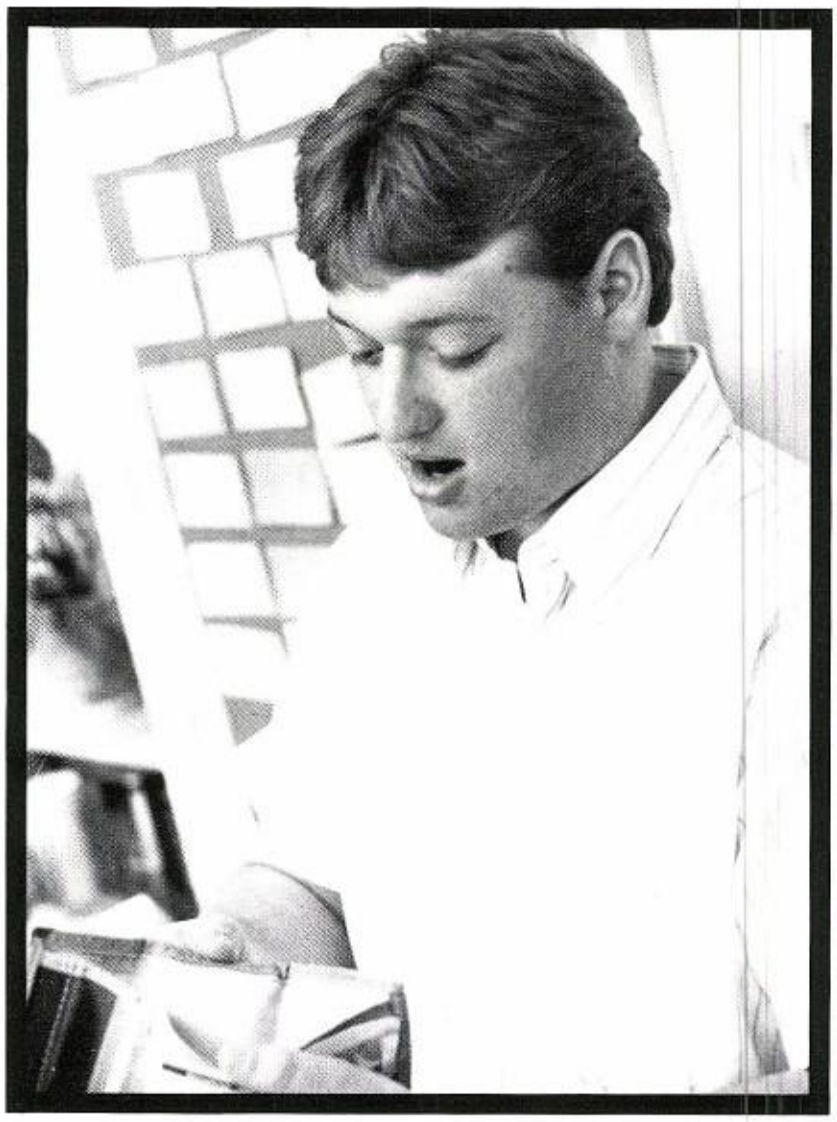
The only day you've ever parked in a fire lane you get a ticket

The girl behind you is wearing the same earrings you are

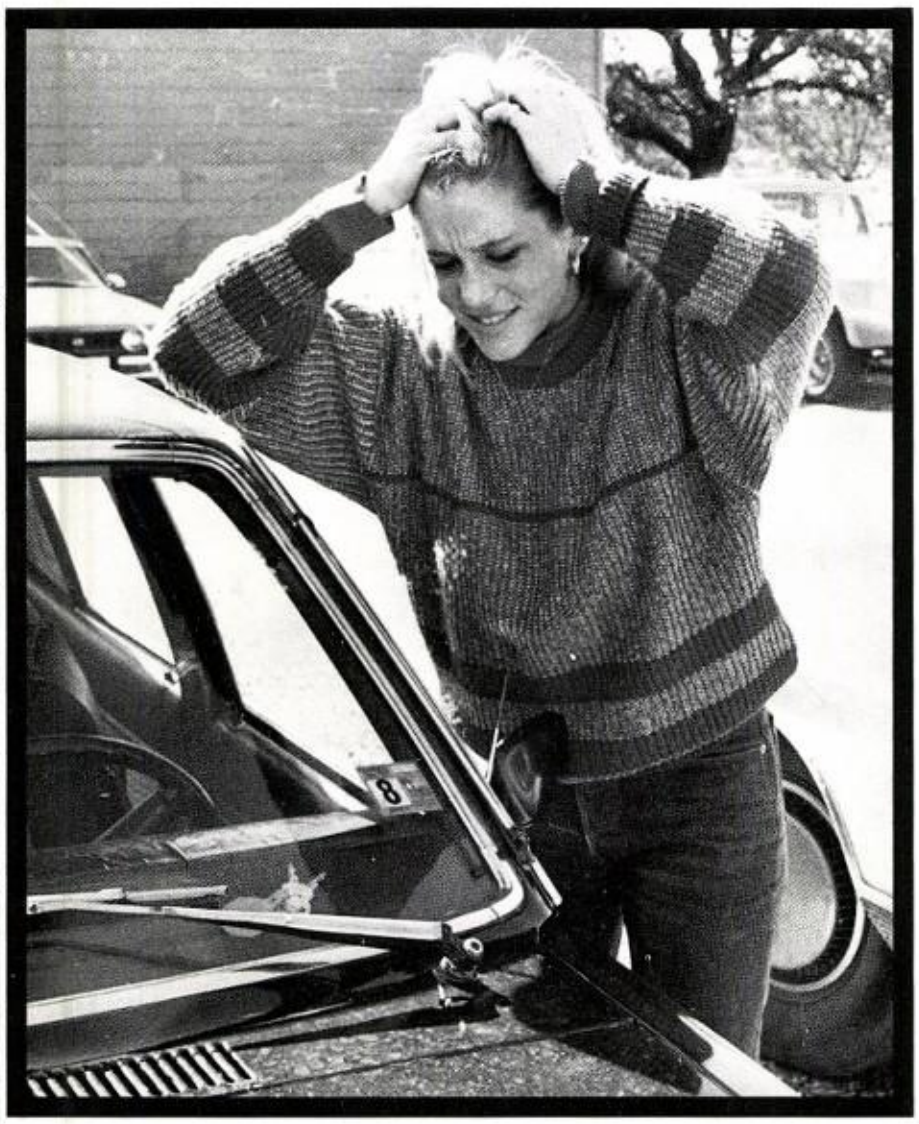
You have a date on Friday but don't get paid until Monday

You let a friend copy your homework and he gets a better grade than you





It's a Bummer for Girls When . . .



You're on a diet and your friends decide to go on a Bueno Binge

You get to the school dance at 10:31 and can't get in

You try to do Jane Fonda but can't make it through the warm-up

You lock your keys in your car and it's running

You go to the library Saturday Night to study and someone sees you

You go to buy a bikini but need a size 11 bottom and a size 3 top (or vice-versa)

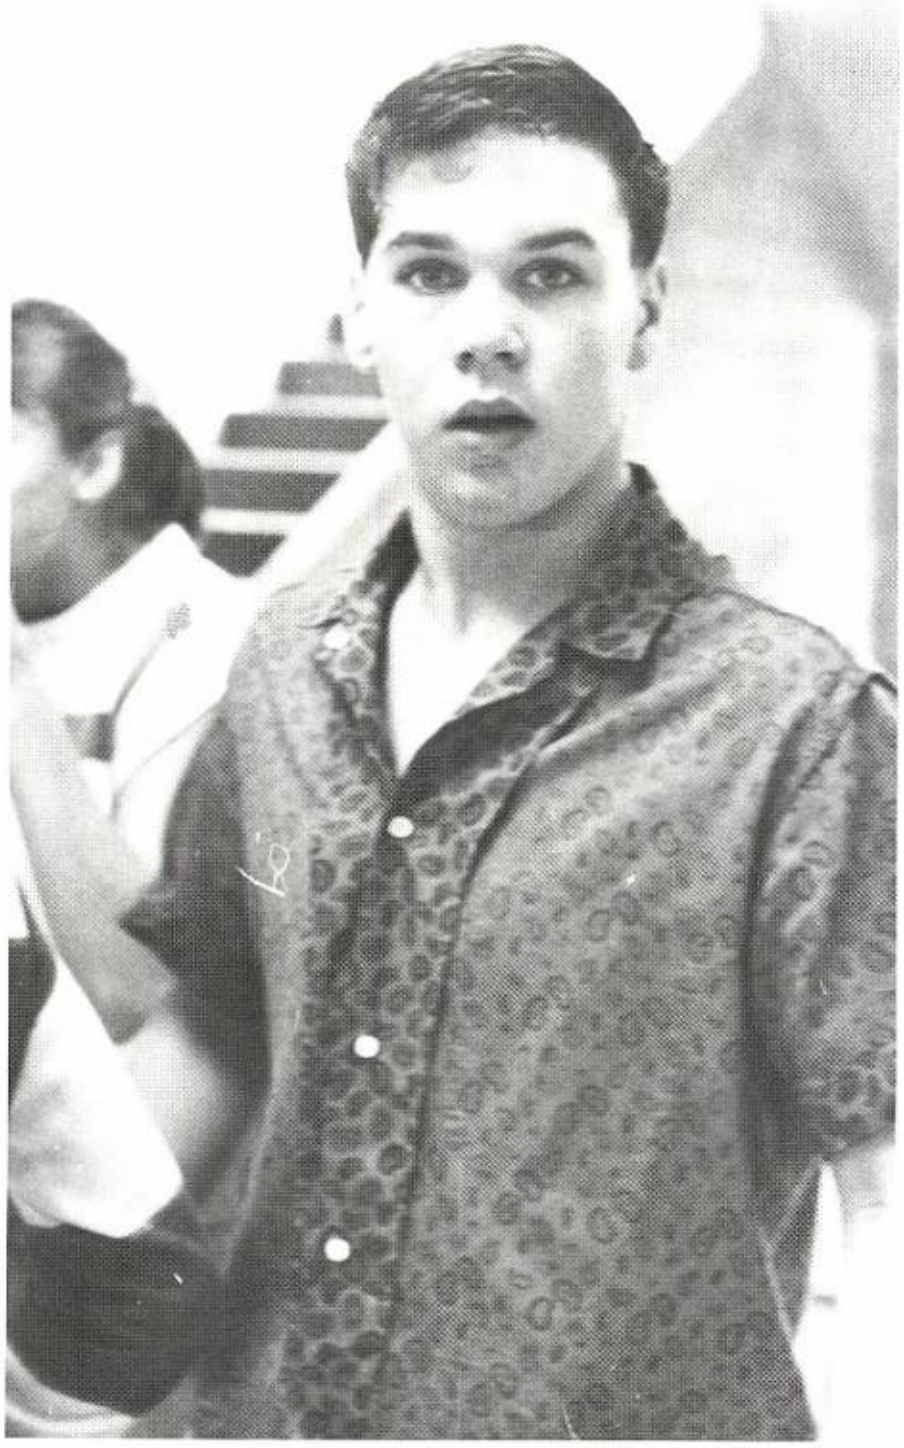
STUDENT LIFE

Howdy Week Activities Kick Off New School Year

Howdy Week was only the beginning of an impressionable year at Heights.

Young Life, Deck the Halls, Rollerskating at Silver-Wheel, and Backwards Day began the week of festivities. The traditional Powder Puff game of the juniors versus seniors, in which the seniors won, was included in the activities. For the first time, the Howdy King and Queen were crowned at the annual Howdy Dance, which brought the week to a close.

Michelle Reynolds and Laurie Parker jam to the beat of "The Trend."

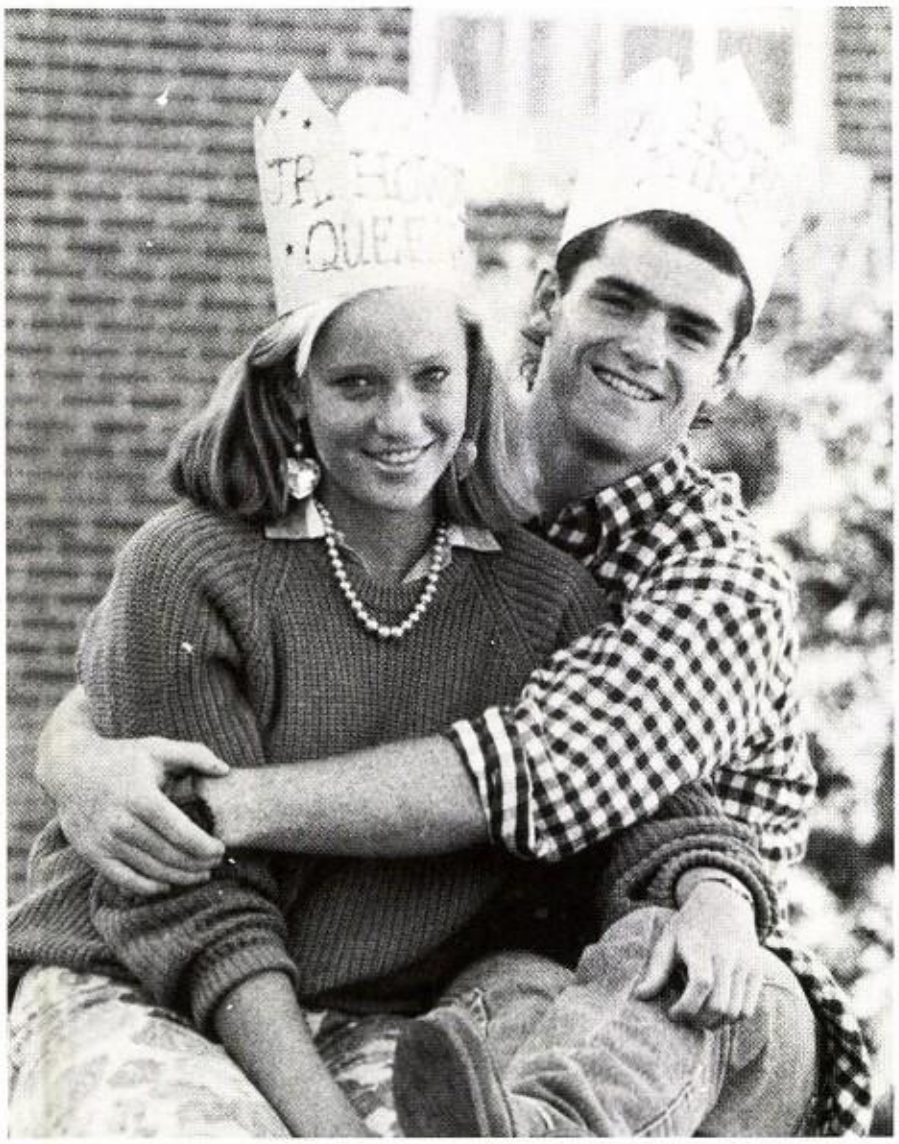


"But this is how I always dress!" cries a stunned Troy Smith on Backwards Day.

"It's hard to be humble," exclaims Mike "King Puff" Saylor to a laughing Coach Elliott.

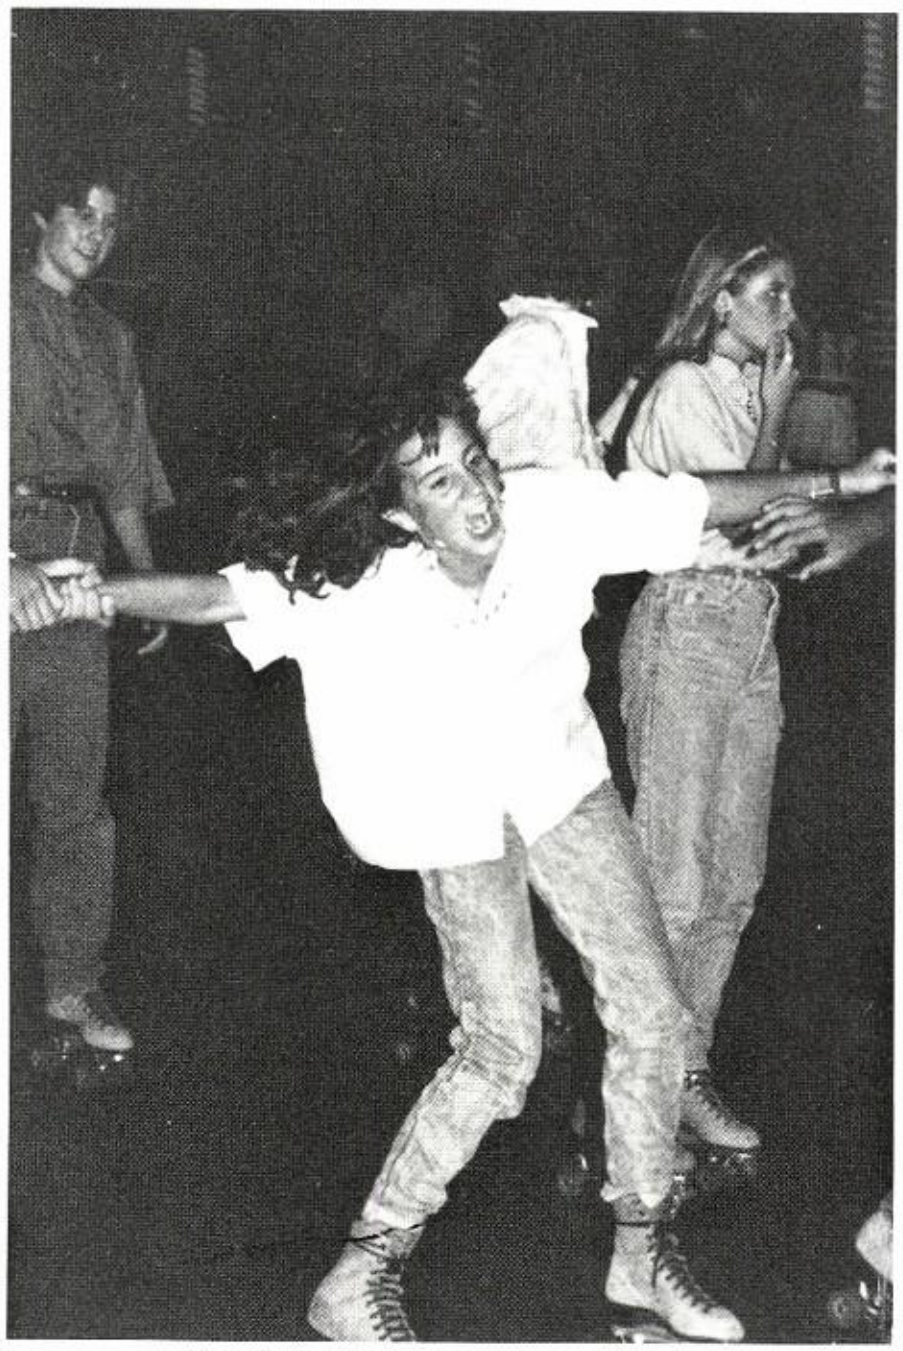
"Are we almost done?" ask freshman Howdy Queen Laurie Hodge and Howdy King Grant Fortney.

Sophomore Howdy King and Queen, Jeff Bond and Jennifer Roels, barely conceal excitement for their new honor.



"Please take the picture," begs junior Howdy Queen Courtney Jakimier as Howdy King Marty Bowen smiles broadly.

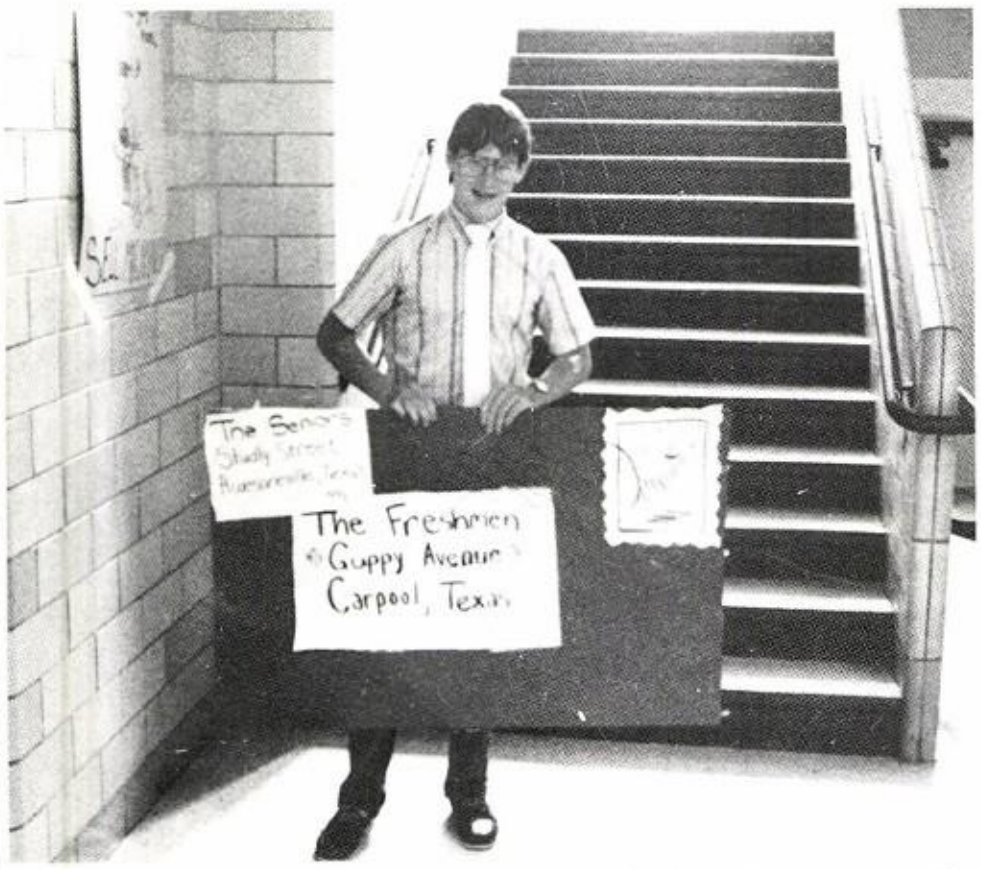
"Are you sure we won?" ask senior Howdy King and Queen, John Applegate and Suzanne Varnell.



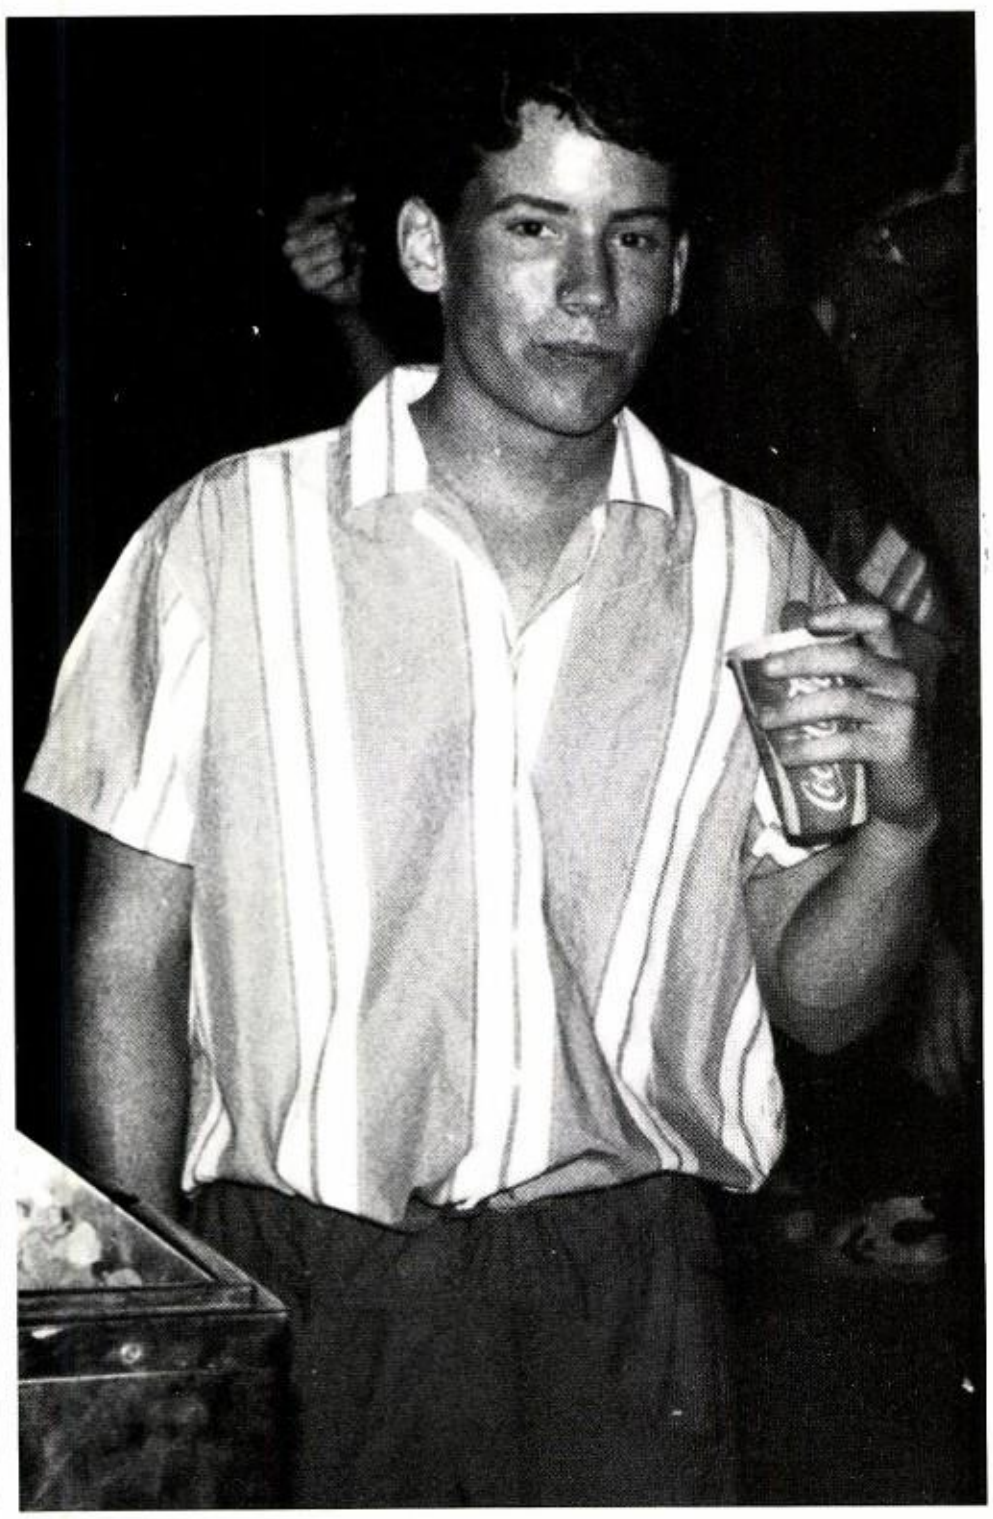
Jennifer McElrath is torn between two unknown admirers.

"Don't I look sexy?" asks Cort Dehart of an amused Nick Cochrane.

Elizabeth Reynolds breaks through an opening with the help of her teammates.

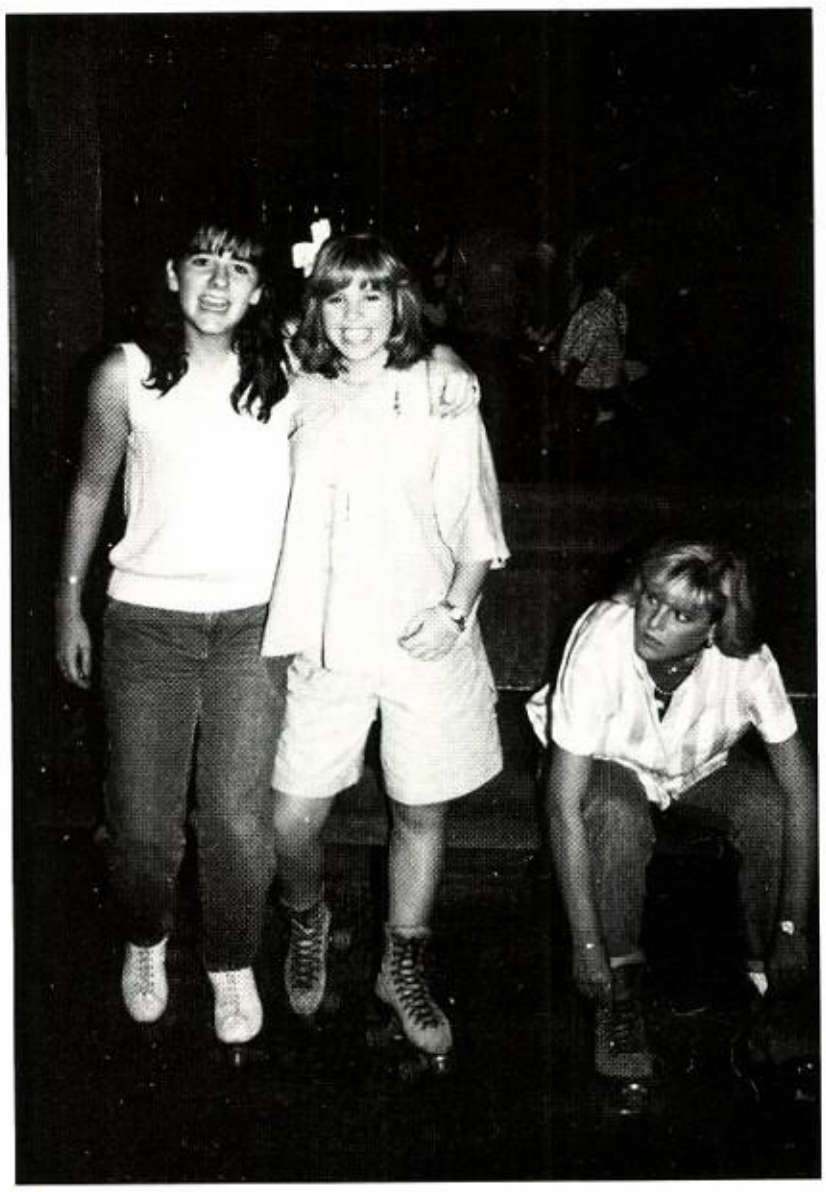


Chris Gotcher proudly shows his invitation from Deck the Halls.



Chris Hunter, sophomore, says "Coke is it!"

"Oh Neil, you're so cute, we can't keep our hands off you!" squeal cheerleaders Marty Bowen and John Sloan.



Keely Harrell is astonished at how fast Trish Miller and Christina Plenk put on their skates.

Open House Proves to Be Informing to Parents

On the night of Monday, October 16, numerous parents flocked to Arlington Heights. Their goal was to speak with teachers, counselors, and other school associated personnel on the happenings of Heights concerning the students. Members of the ROTC were on hand to direct confused parents to teachers' rooms. The band also performed for interested parents in the auditorium. Open House '85 proved to be a very enlightening and informing night for all.

This past school year, Mr. McClure and a few of his industrial arts students formed a corporation. This new curriculum requires the students to make and sell signs. Mr. McClure feels that this new curriculum should help his students in the future.

Students Crown Farris 1985 Homecoming Queen

Homecoming was a huge success this year. Activities began early Friday morning with the judging of class floats, all following the theme of "Transportation." The seniors won the judging with the theme of "Sailing Seniors."

Following tradition, the senior girls performed a dance to "We Go Together" and the Student Council put together a wonderful slide show. The seniors won the spirit cup, also a tradition at Heights. The 1985 Homecoming Queen, Aaron Farris, was chosen by the student body from a court of 12 girls: Robin Borgers, Tammy Dickenson, Missy Flowers, Karen Fox, Arden Gafford, Robin Huston, Barbara Lee, Robin Majette, Krissy Pedigo, Mi Shon Powers, and Elizabeth Reynolds.

The varsity football team made a valiant effort, but was defeated by the Dunbar Wildcats. Following the game, the Student Council held the Homecoming dance at the Round Up Inn, featuring C. C. and Company.

"Crimes of the Heart" Is Sophistication in Action

The play "Crimes of the Heart" by Beth Henley was performed November 25 and 26, 1985 at Arlington Heights. The setting of the entire play is the kitchen in the Magrath sisters' house in Hazlehurst, Mississippi, a small southern town. The theme is "blood is thicker than water." The play is about three sisters of a middle class family. When Babe, one of the sisters, shoots her husband, they all reunite in their house. Once together, they admit all their childhood jealousies and faults and become closer.

Babe Botrelle is played by Sharon Batchelor. One sister Lenny Magrath was played by both Samantha Medlock and Wendy Jordan. Robin Huston was cast to play singer sister Meg Magrath. Other cast members included Kristen Shrove and Kristina Cleveland who alternately portrayed Chick Boyle. Steve Pendley and David Urquhart who both portrayed Barnette Lloyd. Doc Porter was played by both Steve Rolls and Tim Gould.

Mrs. Rosemary Burton was the stage director and Mrs. Elizabeth Belsly was the art director. The play was shown one day during school. The auditorium was packed with the large crowd the play drew. All in all, it was a success.

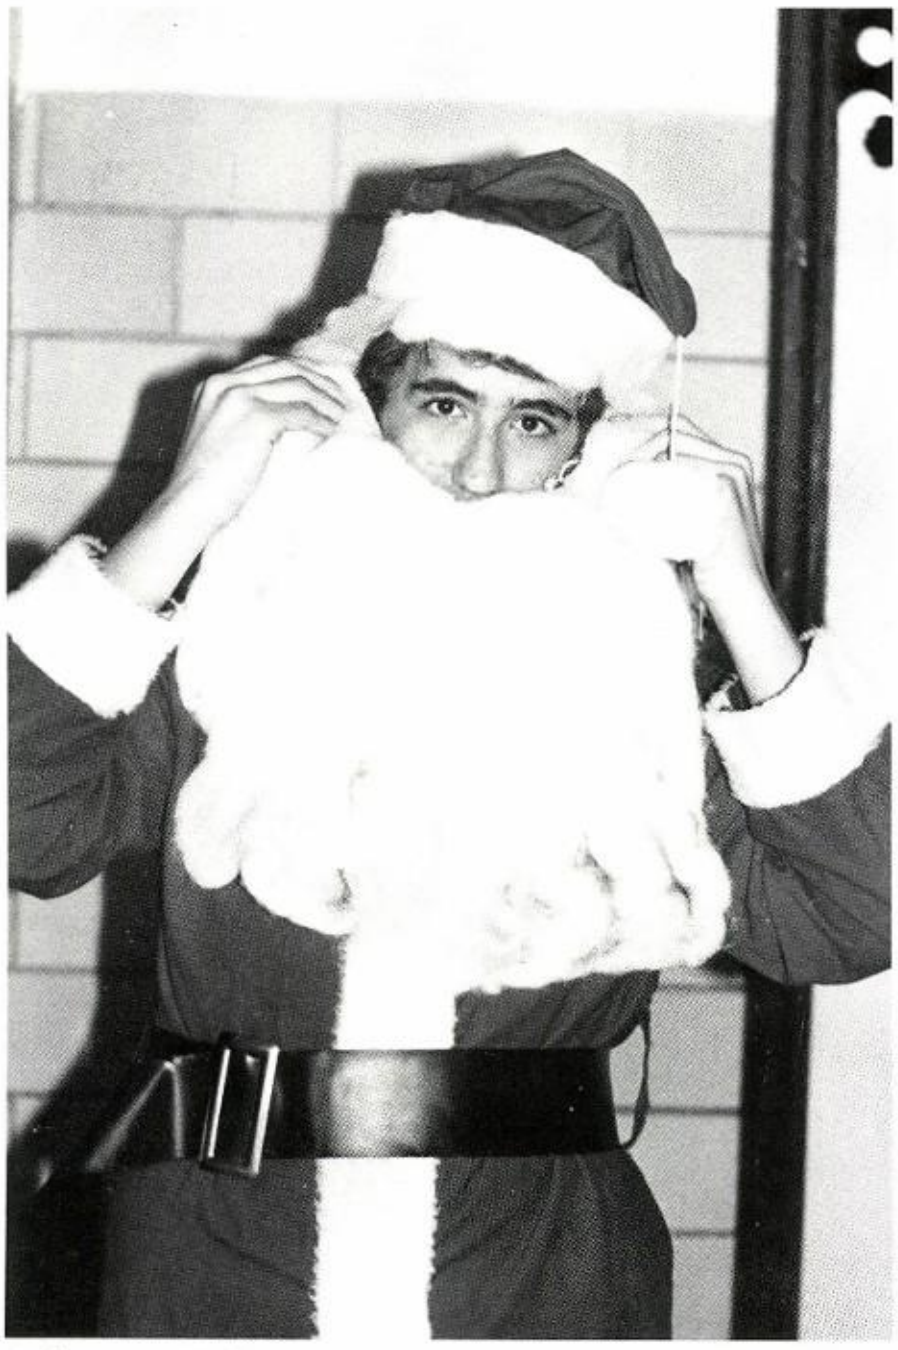
An Original Arlington Heights Christmas Story

'Twas two weeks before Christmas when all through the day, not a student was silent, they didn't want to stay. The decorations were hung 'round the gym for the dance, there were hopes of good times and maybe romance. The students were nestled all snug in their class, dreaming of dancing and pictures from Flash, and men in their suits with their wives as their date, had just settled down to chaperon until late. When out in the parking lot there arose such a clatter, they sprang from their chairs to see what was the matter. Away from the party they ran past the roar, flew down the hall and tore open the door. The moon through the trees on the dewy fresh grass gave a luster of midday to all those who passed. When out in the lot there arrived with a poof, they knew in a moment it wasn't a spoof. When what to their wondering eyes should appear, but a guy in a Santa suit, it's STEVEN MEAR! He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot, and his clothes were all tarnished with grease and soot. His eyes how they squinted, his glasses were lost! His cheeks were like roses, covered with frost. His droll little mouth spread in a grin, but the beard on his face fell off of his chin.

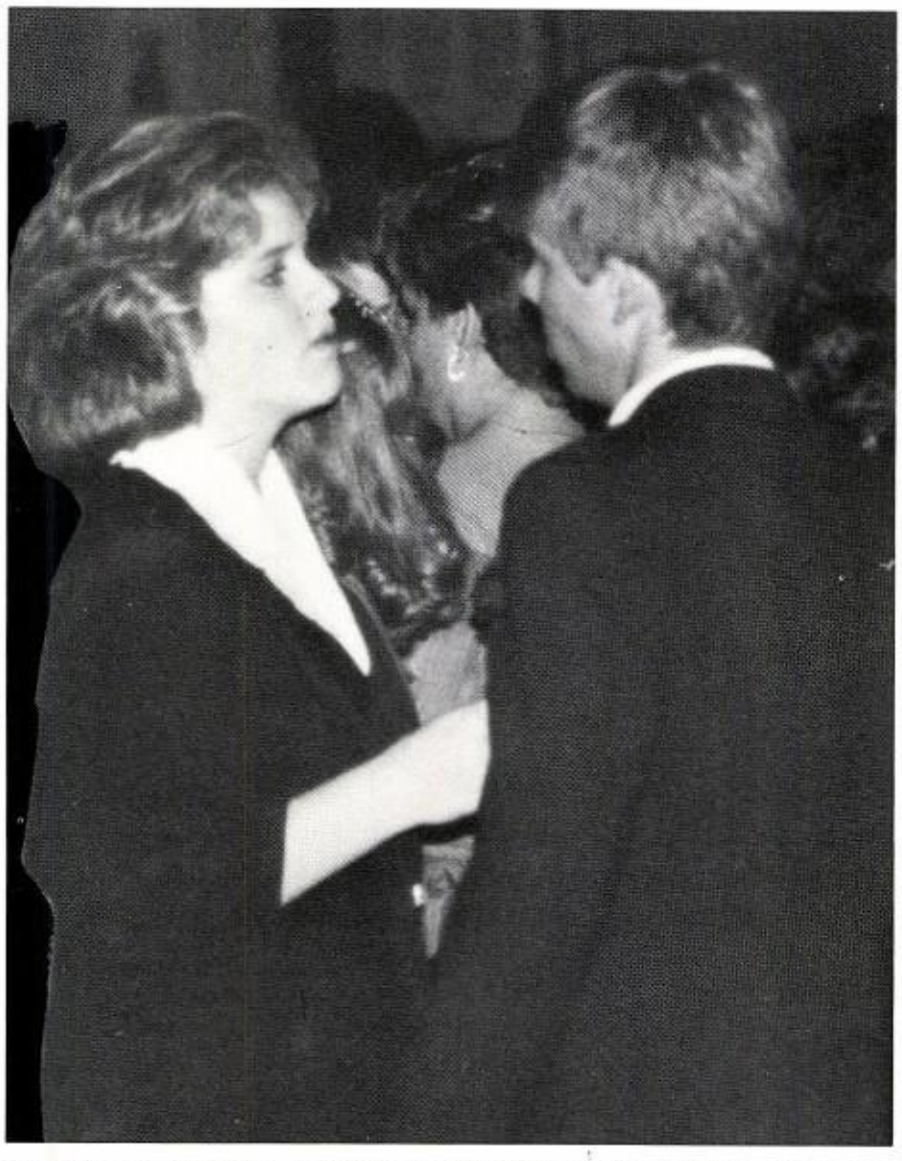
He sat in the dance with girls perched on his knee, so they could have pictures of "Santa and me!" Then all of a sudden they got a phone call; it was a bomb threat that scared them one and all. Starsky and Hutch got there real quick, and evacuated the building lickity split and as everyone stood looking at the stars, they watched old Santa jump in his car but they heard him exclaim as he drove out of sight

"Happy Christmas anyway and to all a good night."

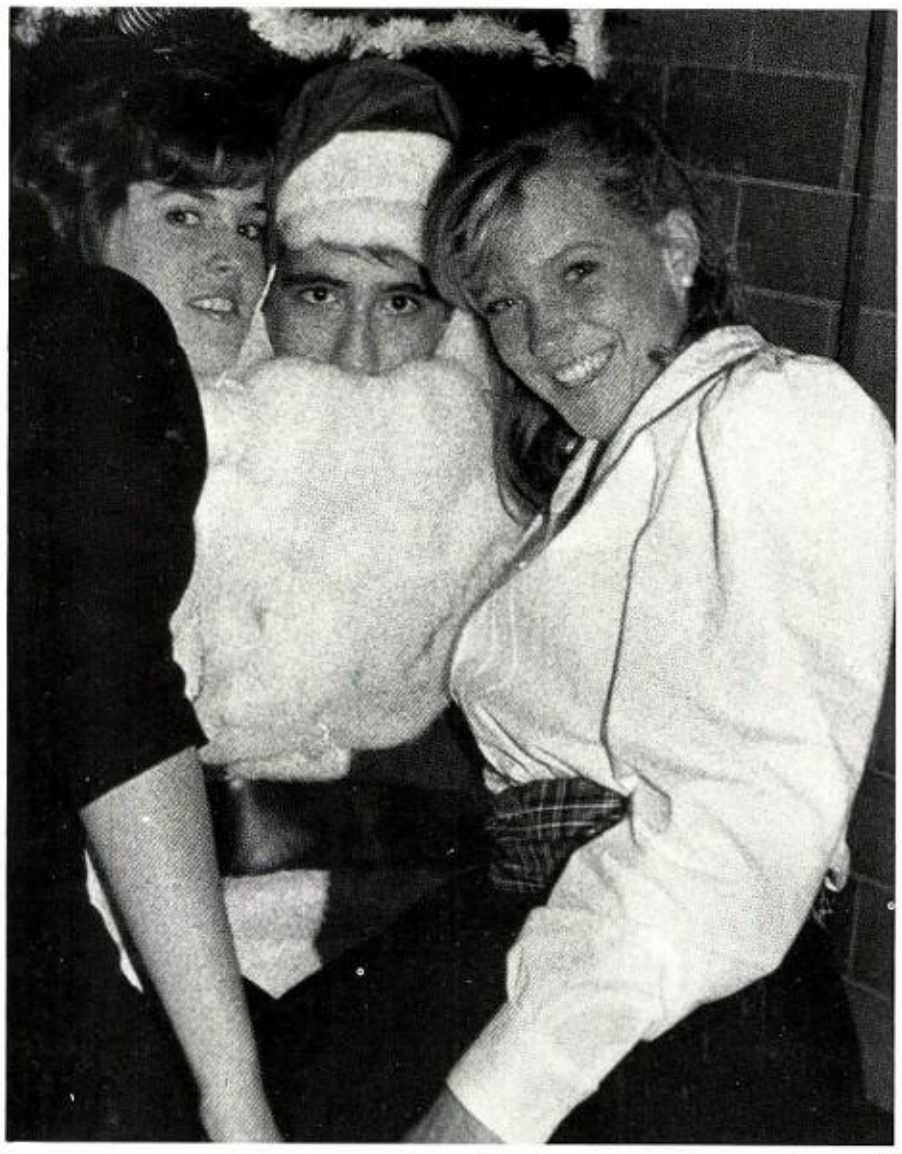


Arlington Heights' personal Santa Claus, alias Steven Mear, asks "Hey, does anyone have any Super glue?"

Even the tree gets all decked out for the Christmas dance.



Courtney Daniel, junior, asks her date, Chip Alliman, "How are we supposed to dance to THIS?"

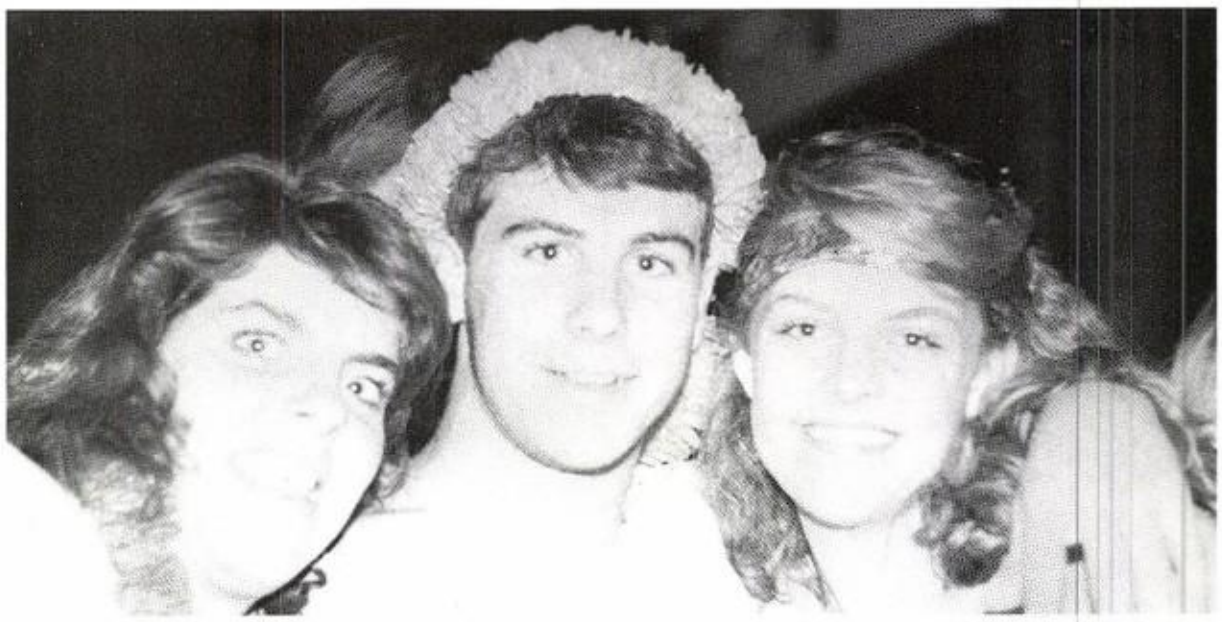


Paige Spears and Courtney Jakimier whisper their wildest Christmas wishes into Old Saint Nick's ear.

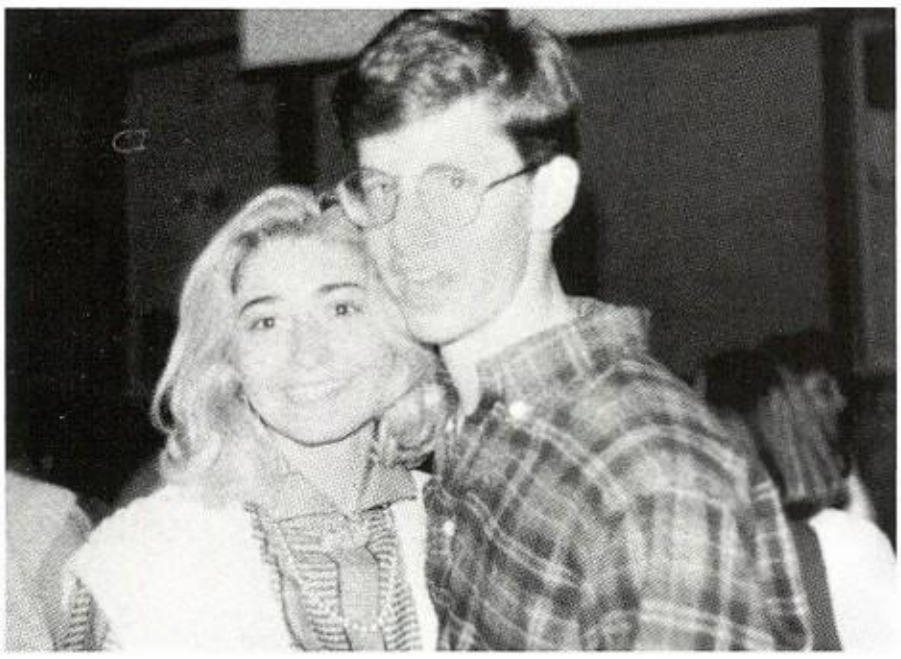
While taking a break from the Christmas dance, Missy Dill thinks admiringly of her date, Gary Moberg, "Isn't he adorable!"

Class of '86 Starts a New Toga Dance Tradition

On the night of January 17th Heights had its first Senior Toga Dance of the year. Originally planned as a Luau, it was a tremendous success. Raising the adrenaline of the students, "The Pengwins" rocked the night away to many familiar and some not-so-familiar tunes. Senior Steering Committee and Student Council added to the Toga spirit by decorating with a Greek motif. Money that was raised went toward the expenses of the Senior Prom.



Stephanie Smith and Joanna Burdette, with Greek God, Danny Petrie, keep the Luau tradition in mind at the Senior Toga Dance.



While visiting the Roman Forum, Lani Jones and Ryan Brittain are amazed at the grandeur of the Roman columns.

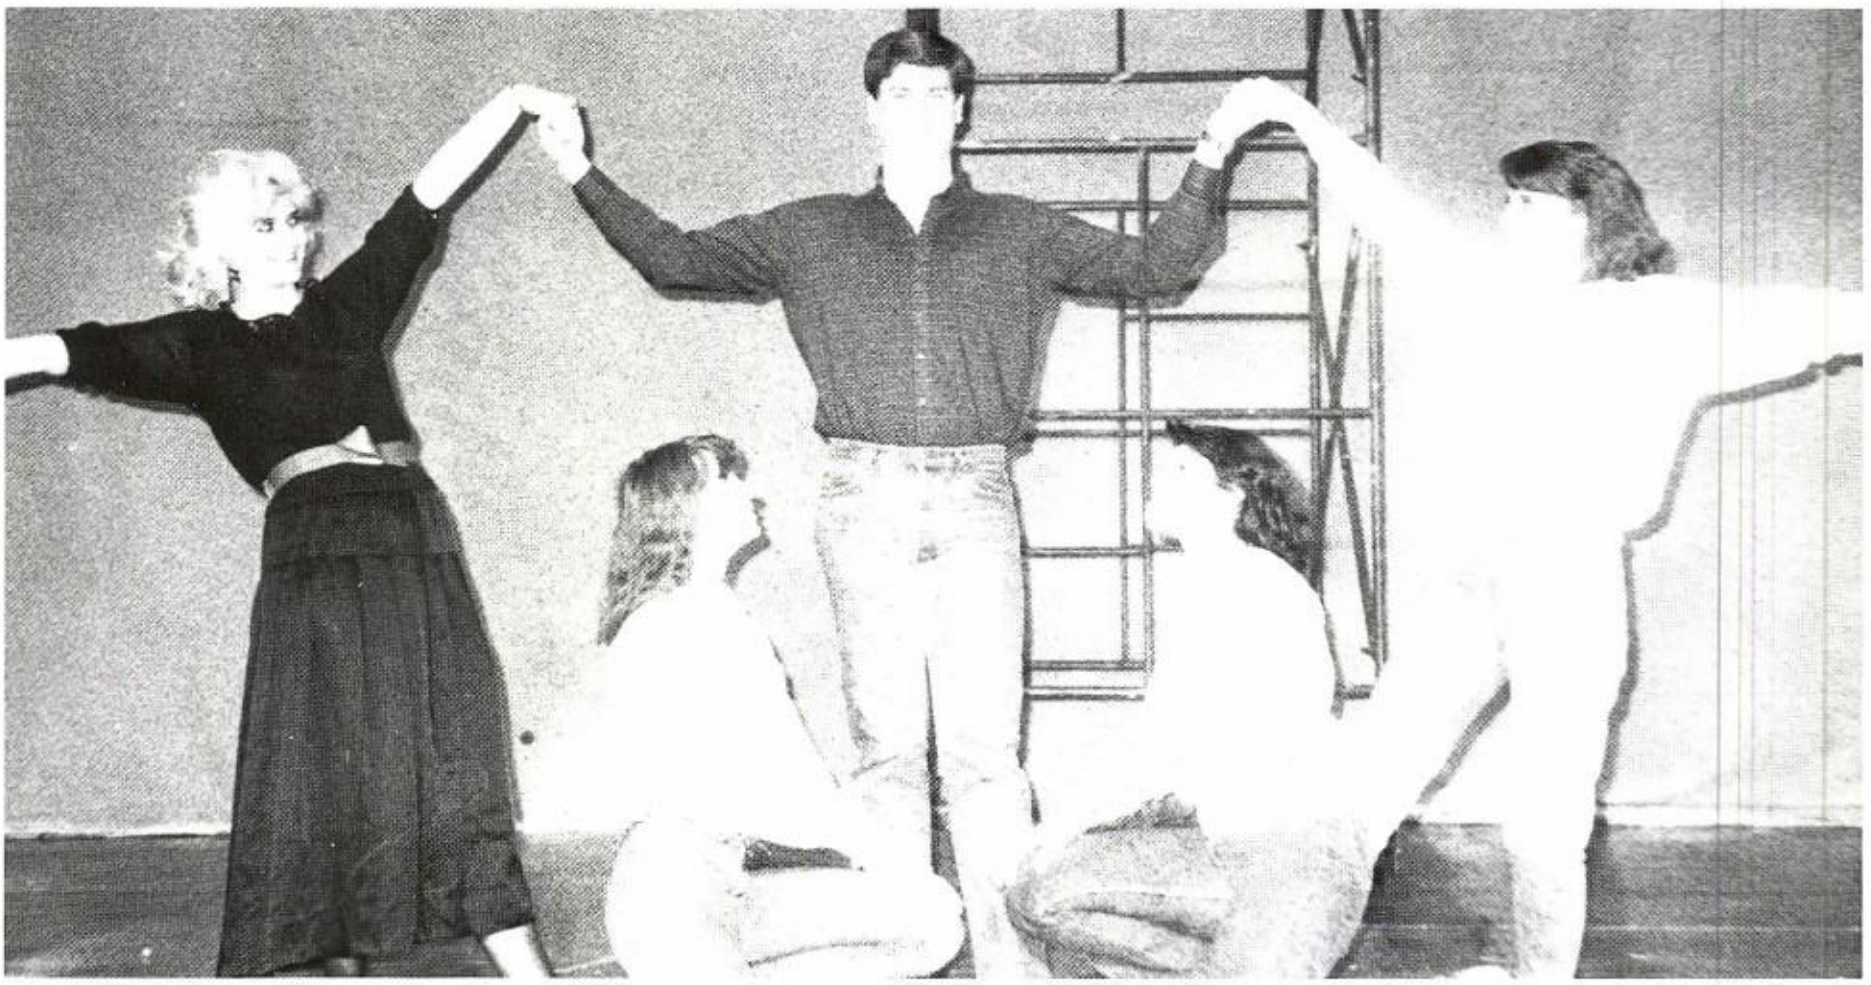
Starving Artists Sing for Supper in Spring Play

"Sing for Your Supper" was this year's past spring musical presented by the Arlington Heights Performing Arts students. The drama director, Mrs. Rosemary Burton, worked with the musical director, Mrs. Donna Norton. The musical was the tenth production these two women collaborated on together. This was Mrs. Burton's last production at Heights because she has decided to retire. So, this year they made her last production the finest it has ever been. Being a revue, there were no main roles in "Sing for Your Supper." The revue consisted of loosely connected skits and songs written by Rodgers and Hart, two very well-known musical composers. Some of the more highlighted singers were Robin Huston, Dennis Abbott, and Sharon Batchelor. The musical was shown in two performances on May eighth and ninth.

"How many times must we tell you not to hang upside-down and play on our time. We need to practice our skit!" howl Wendy Wood and Juliann Morgan.



"Rise, my wonderous children!" exclaims an elated Dennis Abbott. "He's got delusions of grandeur!" think Sharon Batchelor, Robin Huston, Wendy Jordan, and Kristina Cleveland.

"G. Force!" screams the excited team of superheroes.

"What do you mean we all have to sing solos?" exclaim Lisa Tierce, Angela Wells, Susan Malone, Carol Barber, Charlotte Mosley, and John Williams.

ORGANIZATIONS

New Sponsors Lead Council in Productive Year

Productive was a good word to use in describing the year for the 1985-86 Student Council. New Sponsors, Mrs. Janis Arnett and Mrs. Cheryl Girton, led the council in a productive year with new ideas and exciting projects. President, Dennis Abbott; Vice-President, Alexis Wilson; Secretary, Krissy Pedigo; Treasurer, Marty Bowen; and Parliamentarian, Bart Thornton worked together to make 1985-86 an exciting school year for AHHS.

The Howdy, Homecoming, Christmas and Spring Fever dances and activities had yet another year of fun and excitement. The annual canned food drive proved to be successful. Probably the most rewarding project of the year was helping a needy family during the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays. This year was an exciting year for the council and the student body.

The Student Council is busy making posters to promote studying for finals.

New Sponsor Guides Jacket Journal to Excellence

This year the Jacket Journal went through many changes. Under the leadership of a new sponsor, Mrs. Donya Witherspoon, and editor, Marlon Mote, the relatively small staff worked competently to put out the award-winning paper. New layout techniques were experimented with to give the new reader variety and the Journal a new look.

Including the editor, there was a total of fourteen people on the staff. This number made it possible for each person to have a specific job to accomplish. Working together, everyone tried hard to make this year's paper the best it could be.

"I feel that we had a very productive and exciting year, and I'm looking forward to many activities next year," said club member Sharon Morgese. SPORTS

85-86 Proves to be a Challenge for the Jackets

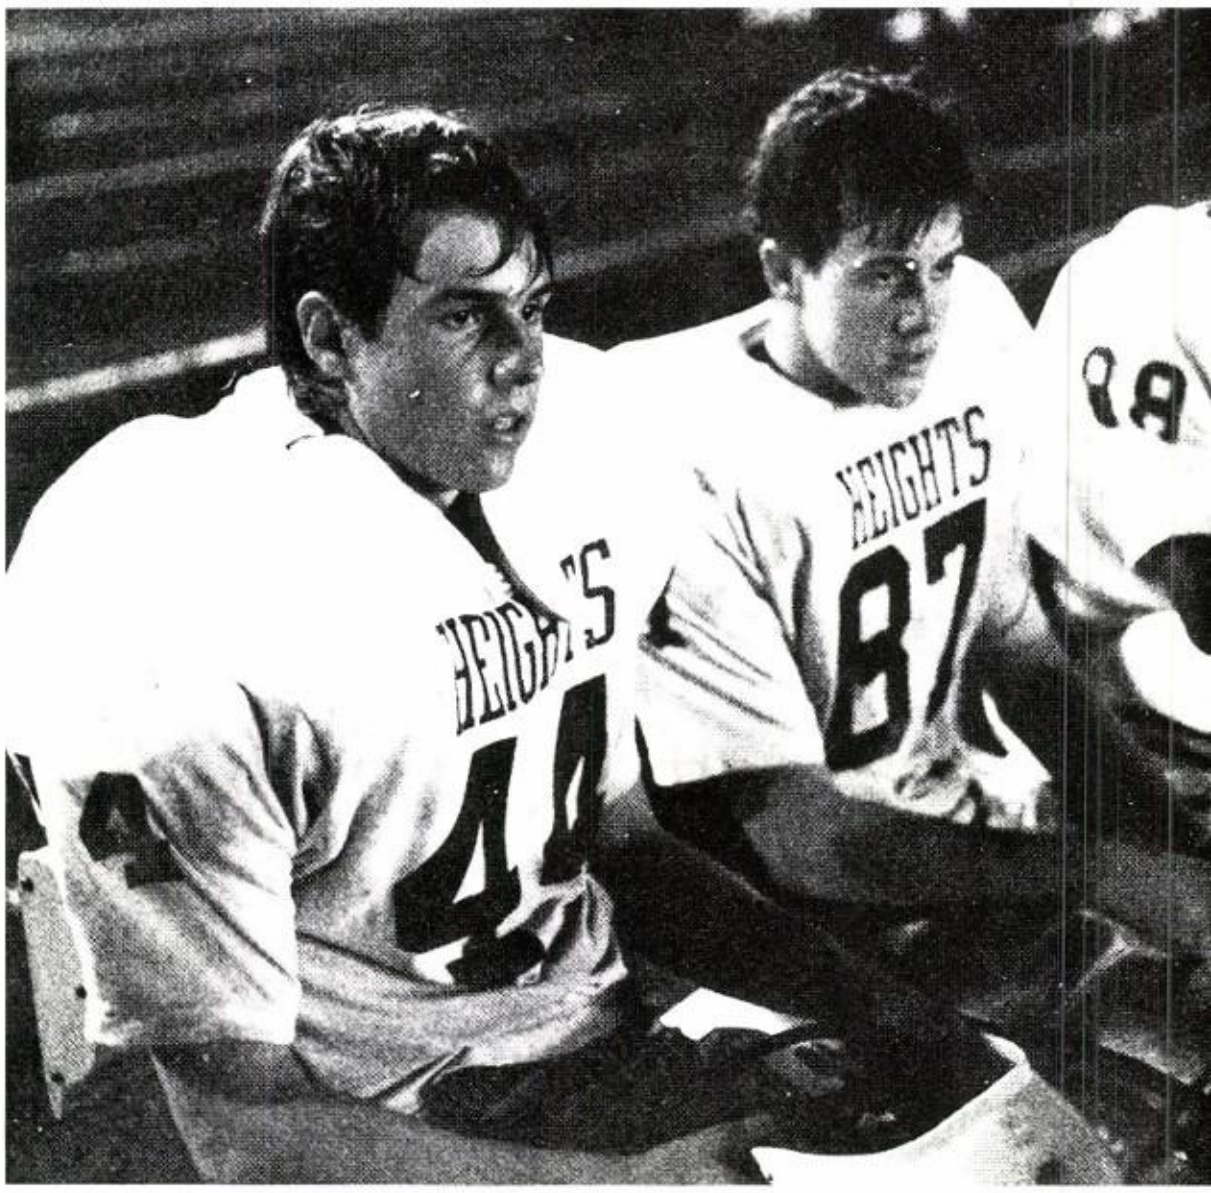
The 1985 football season proved to be a challenging and difficult time for the Yellow Jackets. With a district record of 2-5 and overall record of 2-8, the Jackets struggled through the season with ups and downs.

The first preseason game against Mineral Wells demonstrated the ferocity of the defense as they held the opposing team to 20 points and helped L. C. Timms score on a kick return to give the Jackets the only points for their team. The Jackets went on to lose the initial game. Although the defense aided in preventing the opposing teams from accumulating many points, the Jackets were shut out in both games.

The first half of the season proved to be laborious as the Jackets also lost to Western Hills and Dunbar. But with the pride and the drive the Yellow Jackets are famous for, they defeated Southwest and Eastern Hills in the second half of the season. Both of the games were a great exhibition of the capabilities of both the offense and defense.

Because of poor attendance to pep rallies that took place at 7:30 a.m., much of the vitality of the school was unknown. The paltry participation from the student body affected the general spirit of the team and most likely influenced the outcome of the season.

Although the season was a disappointment for both the team and students, it revealed all the strength and pride of the Yellow Jackets. With the odds against them, they entered the field with their heads held high and when they exited, despite the score, the heads were still held aloft. The attitude of these peers should be admired by all and should stand as a model for the future Yellow Jackets.



Tony Gould and Neil Stone gaze in bewilderment at the defense of the Jackets.

Junior Varsity Exhibits Excellence on the Field

For the third consecutive year, the Junior Varsity football team won the district title. The team started the year on a low note by losing all three preseason games. But with determination, they came back strong.

The Jackets conquered the season with only one tie and zero losses. "We came a long way from the season," Coach John Leseman said.

The team completed their schedule by defeating O. D. Wyatt 14-8 on November seventh. According to Leseman, the top players this year were juniors Brad Duffy, flanker; and Mike Needham, split end. Outstanding sophomores were Joe Mulholland, linebacker; and Robbie Sager, offensive guard.

Freshmen Show a Promising Future for the Hill

With only one preseason game to prepare for district, the freshman Yellow Jackets started the season with an energetic display of their ability by defeating Eastern Hills, 20-12.

In the three games following the preseason game, they were not as successful, as they lost each of them. With will and determination, they came back to win the last three games of the season, one they won because the opposing team did not have enough players. The way they finished the season shows promise for each of the players in the future.

All the girls were very spirited and supported both the JV and freshman sports. Unlike recent years, the five freshmen girls cheered at the freshmen games and the five sophomore girls cheered at the JV games. The girls practiced every morning before school for an hour.

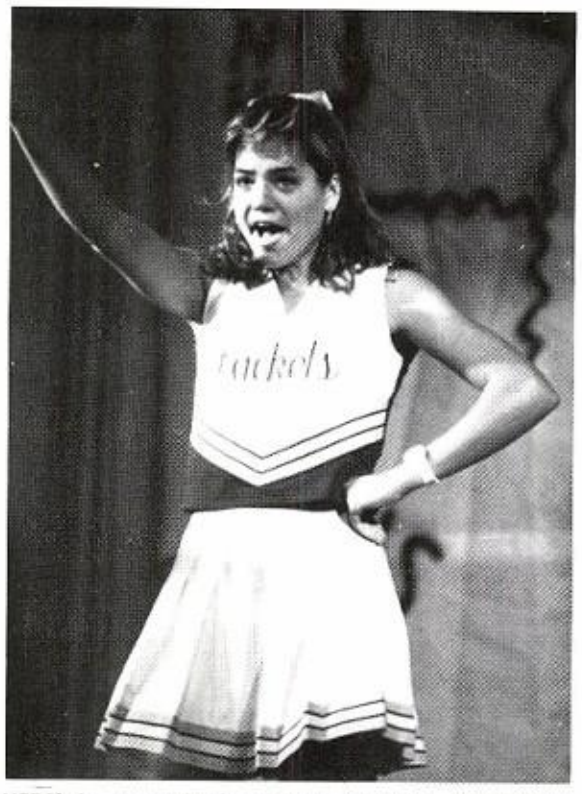
Varsity Cheerleaders Go to Florida for Nationals

The Varsity cheerleaders, headed by third-year sponsor Mrs. Susan Gregory, enjoyed a year of promoting spirit at Heights. The squad consisted of eight seniors, three juniors, and a senior mascot. As in the past, all twelve of the girls attended a summer cheerleading camp at Southern Methodist University, where they received the Award of Excellence, which goes to the squad with the best overall ability. The Award of Excellence honored the cheerleaders with a trip to Orlando, Florida for National Competition, enabling the cheerleaders to skip Regional Competition.

Extra activities of the cheerleaders included participating in a local Fort Worth Labor Day Parade and conducting two cheerleading clinics to raise money for Florida.

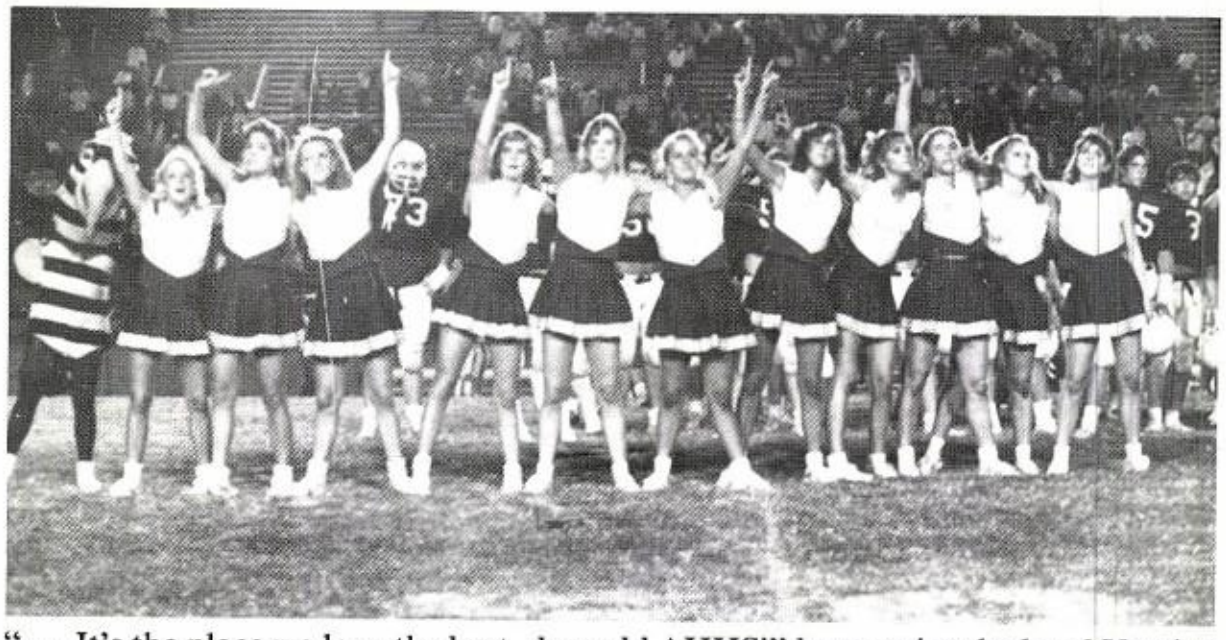


"With a rebel yell," Holly Hodges cries, go, go, go — oh!

Krissy Pedigo, senior, smirks as she auditions for a Wendy's commercial.

The cheerleaders display the motto, "You're never fully dressed without a smile."

Mascot, Lauriva Day, chuckles as the opposing team fumbles the ball.



". . . It's the place we love the best, dear old AHHS!" harmonize the loyal Varsity Cheerleaders at the end of a game.

Talented J.V. Provides Faith for Future Success

This year's J.V. basketball team held fast to an up and down season of wins and losses. The team's head coach, Merlin Priddy, contributed excellent coaching techniques and lots of moral support. The team was made up of four juniors and three sophomores, the juniors being headed by Chris Davis and Tony Gould. Although the team won few games, they built for an exciting varsity team next year. "The team was fabulous this year and we had lots of fun," commented Greg Kimmel. He also added, "We hope that all of our hard work will pay off for next year."

Boys Track Eases on Down the Road to District

The boys' track team, under the direction of Coach John Leseman, had a very good year. With the addition of many of the boys from other sports, the team grew considerably in size as well as power. The team participated in several spring meets as well as the indoor meet. This year's team was led by Tony Hodnett, Larry Bilbrey, and Chris Clark.

The girls' track team was coached once again by Jimmy Jenkins. Even though the team lost several of it's top runners due to graduation, they still made an outstanding showing this year.

Coach Jimmy Jenkins and his girls cross-country team had an excellent season. Both the junior varsity and varsity teams won District for the second year in a row. The District meet was held at TCU, where the team completed with five top-ten finishes, led by Susan Smith's first-place title. The varsity girls team then advanced to Regionals, where they placed fifteenth, which was very respectable out of so many teams. Coach Jenkins believed the team had become a dominant force in District and would continue in the seasons to come.

Undefeated Varsity Volleyball Wins District Title

The Varsity Volleyball team had an awesome year; they came in first place in the 5A-6 District. The team went on to Bi-District play-offs, only to be stopped by the Denton Broncos. Over all the girls had the winning spirit and the determination to stay on top.

The ladies set a new record for Arlington Heights, this being the first year for them to win district undefeated. The varsity team played in the Fort Worth Coaches Association Tournament this season bringing home the second place trophy.

The team was led by captains Corrie Hill and Aaron Farris, seniors. Both captains were named to the All-District team for four years in a row. Also named to the All-District this year was Juliet Isbell, junior. Farris was also elected to the All-Tarrant County Volleyball Team.

Freshman and Junior Varsity Gain Experience

The Freshman Volleyball team, coached by James Luckett had a good season this year. The team worked well together considering it was their first year. With hard work and practice they will be an even better Junior Varsity team. Jack Warren guided the Junior Varsity team through the eighty-five season. "I think the team gained valuable experience this year," said Coach Warren. Arlington Heights was very proud of these ladies and their winning efforts that made our school great. They have made one step for athletics and one giant step for lady athletes at Heights.

The girls team this year was faced with a year of rebuilding. On the girls swim team the top contributor was Angela Wells, freshman. Plagued by a lack of members, the girls are hoping for better results next year.

The girls won the second place trophy in the Garland Varsity Girls Golf Tournament. The boys finished placing fifth to eighth in four varsity tournaments, where they played against the best schools in the metroplex. The three top boy players were Stephen Graf, Glenn Siler, Seniors, and Cory Belcher, Junior. The two top girl players were Wendy Wood, Senior, and Jennifer Little, Sophomore.

"I can't seem to remember how Coach Dixon said to hold this stick," wonders sophomore Jennifer Little.

The New Tennis Coach Motivates Team to Victory

New at AHHS this year was the tennis coach, Howard Palmer. He led his team to place second in District, and then they went on to compete in Regional competition in Abilene, Texas. His rigorous training of his team paid off.

Coach Palmer had his team working during sixth period and after school. They did sprints, long distance running, calisthenics, and they lifted weights in the weight room. All of these contributed to their successful season.

Coach Palmer continuously drilled his lower classmen because he lost his top players this year. Coach Palmer was very pleased with the outcome of the team's season.

1986 Varsity Baseball Season Begins in Houston

The 1986 baseball season brought back two seniors from last year's quarter-finalist finishers. Coach Tommy Elliott was faced with a rebuilding season. The Jackets' team consisted of many high-spirited juniors and leadership-minded seniors. The season started with a trip down to Houston to participate in a tournament against Houston-area teams. After the tournament, the team eventually headed into district with pre-district triumphs under its belt.

Working together as co-editors of the Yellow Jacket has been a great experience for both of us this year. We would like to especially thank those people whose help, patience, and support contributed to the creation of this book.

To begin with, thanks go to the members of our staff who worked so hard, and long on several occasions. Secondly, we thank the people at Taylor Glamourcraft Studios, who did such a terrific job with so many of our pictures, including the cover. Finally, we owe our deepest appreciation to our outstanding sponsor, Mrs. Jacqulyn Curry. Thank you for your continuous understanding and guidance.

We love you all!
